LINCOLN SOCIALITE MISSING

—Butler Makes '56 Prediction—

$3½ Billion Tax Cut Seen

FLEXIBLE FARM SUPPORTS ARE FORECAST BY MARYLANDER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Butler (R-Md) predicted Wednesday night that Congress will vote about $3½ billion dollars in tax relief next year.

In a statement forecasting legislative possibilities, he said a tax reduction measure probably would be the only important new bill passed at the next session.

Most of the session, Butler said will be devoted to "warmed-over" proposals considered but not acted on this year. These include the controversial farm, highway and educational aid programs.

"Tax relief will come in April or May," the Marylander predicted. "It will be aimed at easing the burden of the low and middle income brackets."

"Much sentiment exists for increasing exemptions from $600 to $700. I feel, however, that the majority, at least in the Senate, prefers a percentage decrease—perhaps as much as 10 per cent. In my opinion the total cut will approximate 3½ billion dollars."

Sees Flexible Supports
Butler said he thought Congress would adhere to the flexible system of farm price supports preferred by the Eisenhower administration.

"The huge highway program will likely be approved on a pay-as-you-go basis," he continued, "and some form of aid to education will be granted."

Full Week State Fair Set In '56

The 1956 State Fair will run a full week for the first time in its history, it was decided at a meeting of the State Fair Board Wednesday.

The state's first fair, held in 1859, lasted for three days, but was financially unsuccessful. The annual fairs began in 1868 and have been held each year since then except in 1898, when the Trans-Mississippi Exposition was held in Omaha and the Lincoln fair was canceled in deference to it.

The fair had been no longer than six days until 1954, when an evening show was held prior to the usual Sunday opening. In 1955, the fair opened on Saturday noon, making the affair six and one-half days long.

Attendance has been almost steadily increasing. Total attendance for the fair period since 1948 has been:

1948	197,000
1949	231,000
1950	279,792
1951	285,270
1952	267,000
1953	276,000
1954	304,000
1955	295,000

Little Girl Knew Her Way Around In The Big Town

OMAHA (AP)—Cheryl Ann Regele, 7, of Lincoln wasn't lost—that she wanted Omaha police to know.

What was lost was her girl friend, two other friends, and a neighbor who had brought them to Omaha for a sight-seeing trip. Cheryl was "found" by police in a downtown store. She was looking for her "lost" friends.

She went along willingly to the station while police started looking for her "lost" companions. And at the station, the charming little miss just about took over.

She quipped with desk men, Sgt. William Andrew and Patrolmen Virgil Rohloff and Bill Bloom, and toured the jail—a lot of fun that led Cheryl to remark "Policemen are as nice as Santa Claus."

It all ended when the "lost" friends "found" Cheryl at the station.

Cheryl's mother, Mrs. Verna Regele, of 1229 So. 7th, said a neighbor, Reuben Steinmiller, of 1216 So. 7th, had taken Cheryl and his three children, Mary, Katherine and Gary, to Omaha.

Land For A-Plant Bought

Consumers Picking Up Options; AEC Still Has Not Approved

Lincoln Star Special
COLUMBUS, Neb. — Consumers Public Power District will pick up its option for 545 acres of land north of Hallam, Neb., the site of Consumers' proposed atomic energy power plant.

R. L. Schacht of Columbus, Consumers' general manager, said this will be done because the option must be exercised by the first of 1956. He said the site has not as yet been approved by the Atomic Energy Commission. But he said indications for such approval are "favorable."

Schacht said it is "difficult to tell" when definite word from the AEC on the site will be received, but that negotiations with the commission are "moving right along."

Total purchase price of the land is $90,200. It consists of five separate parcels in an area one mile north of Hallam in southern Lancaster County.

Under the option agreement possession of the land will not be given until March 1, 1956.

Owners of the land and purchase price:

Gerald B. and Lloyd Plambeck of Hallam, $23,000 for 153 acres. Gustav W. and Ella Asselin of Hallam, $25,000 for 152 acres.

C. William and Iva Steimeyer of Clatonia, $12,000 for 80 acres. Emerson J. and Betty E. Eckel of Cortland, $12,000 for 80 acres.

Herman H. and Mary A. Mahlman of Hallam, $18,200 for 81.5 acres.

Options for the purchase of the land were taken in August by George A. Frampton, president of the Davey Bank. He was acting agent for the Continental National Bank of Lincoln.

Consumers has been given preliminary approval by the AEC to construct the 75,000 kilowatt nuclear-powered plant. Consumers officials have said they expect to complete arrangements in 1956, and if construction can be started in 1956 the plant is expected to be in operation in 1959.

Mrs. Reynolds Dies At Her Home; Wife Of Doctor

Mrs. Lena E. Reynolds, 68, a life-long resident of Lancaster County and wife of Dr. R. W. Reynolds, died at her home at 1835 Ryons Wednesday night.

Mrs. Reynolds, who was born in Malcolm, lived in Lincoln since 1917. She was a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church and of Electa Chapter, OES.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Mrs. LaVerne Townsend of Omaha; a son, Jack W. Reynolds of Los Angeles; a sister, Mrs. Anna R. Teal, and a brother, Frank M. Davey, both of Lincoln; and one grandchild.

Troy Carter Remains In Critical Condition

Lincoln General Hospital spokesman said Wednesday night that Troy Carter, 39, of 440 So. 44th, remained on the moderately critical list. His condition has showed no change, the spokesman said, and a scheduled operation was postponed.

Carter has been on the critical list since he was injured the night of Dec. 14 when an extra Burlington train hit a car in which he was an occupant. The accident happened at the No. 27th Street crossing.

Ike Tours Key West Naval Base

Ike In Key West For 12 Days —May Be Factor In '56 Plans

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—President Eisenhower lost no time getting in some relaxation and exercise after arriving at this balmy resort area Wednesday for about 12 days of rest.

The vacation could be an important factor in whether Eisenhower seeks re-election.

His plane arrived at Boca Chica Airport after a flight of nearly four hours from Washington. After lunch and a nap, the President wandered out to a baseball diamond near the temporary White House at the Key West naval base with some golf clubs and practiced approach shots for about half an hour.

White House officials said it was the first time Eisenhower had done anything more than putt with a golf club since Sept. 23, the day before his heart attack.

Next the President took an hour-long stroll around the base. He wore lightweight khaki trousers, a sweater of about the same color and a dark blue sport shirt.

At one point a sailor with a camera asked and got permission to take the President's picture.

"I don't want to miss a chance to have my picture taken," Eisenhower chuckled.

The smiling President stepped from his plane still keeping mum about his political plans, but the big crowd on hand to welcome him caught a glimpse of Eisenhower's mannerisms reminiscent of the 1952 campaign.

As he did in those days, the chief executive stood and waved in an open car, both arms outstretched above his head. It was the first time newsmen had seen him do that since his Sept. 24 heart attack.

The presidential plane Columbine III arrived at Boca Chica Airport after a flight of nearly four hours from Washington.

He was accompanied by his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder; his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University; and a small White House staff.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme commander of the North Atlantic forces in Europe and a bridge-playing pal of the President, had been listed to make the trip, too, but he didn't show up. The White House said it didn't know why.

In Washington, a spokesman said that Gruenther underwent a minor operation at Walter Reed Hospital last week and, while he is "convalescing nicely," he is expected to remain in the hospital until about Jan. 6.

Eisenhower traveled to Florida on advice of his doctors who recommended earlier this month that he get some warm sun and outdoor exercise in preparation for resumption of a full work load at the White House next month.

The temporary White House at the Key West naval base is actually white—of stucco with khaki awnings, and complete with a palm tree in front.

It has been occupied by a Navy dentist, Capt. William R. Burns, but Burns got word at 4:30 Wednesday morning he would have to get out so the President could use it.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, said on the arrival that Eisenhower probably will return to Washington Jan. 8—five days after Congress reconvenes.

Hagerty repeated there was no need for the President to be on hand when the session starts next Tuesday. His State of the Union message will go to Congress two days later, Thursday Jan. 5.

Man Booked For Fight With Patrolman

OMAHA (AP)—John Trapp of Omaha was arrested and booked for investigation Wednesday night after a country fight in which State Safety Patrolman Stewart Halpine was beaten about the head and face.

Trapp was arrested at his home where he was found hiding under a bed by police.

The Patrol said Trooper Halpine was cruising on a road south of Omaha in Sarpy County when he came upon a car in which a man and a young girl were struggling. The trooper said he approached the car and was taking down the girl's name when he was "jumped" by the man.

The trooper, still wearing a heavy brace as a result of a broken back in an accident several months ago, was knocked to the ground and, he said, struck with a rock about the head and face. He slugged back with a pair of handcuffs before the man jumped up and ran back to his car, speeding away.

Shortly afterwards, searchers found the car abandoned. Trapp's arrest followed checking of the car registration.

At central police headquarters Trapp said he was driving the girl to a store to get a loaf of bread. He denied any attack on the child, an 11-year-old.

He was quoted by police as saying he had offered to drive to the store after the child's mother told her to go for bread and that he was forced to stop his car by another vehicle in which several men were riding.

These men, he was quoted as saying, came to his car, told him "we want that girl," and that after she bit one of them on the arm they fled, another car drove up and a man attacked him. He said he hit the man, knocked him down, took a gun and threw it into the bushes, then ran to his car and drove away. Then he drove the girl home.

He told police he did not know the man he hit was an officer.

Mrs. Charles W. Roberts Left New Mexico Motel

Retired Contractor's Wife Gone Since Day After Christmas

Lincoln Star Special

SANTA FE, N. M.—A statewide search was unsuccessful Wednesday in attempts to locate a prominent Lincoln, Neb., woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts, 64, who has been missing from her hotel since the day after Christmas.

Mrs. Roberts, according to her husband, Charles W. Roberts, left their motel apartment while he was at breakfast Monday morning. She hasn't been seen since, in spite of an alert that spread to State Police, all New Mexico sheriffs, city police and authorities in adjoining states.

Slain Girl's Father 'Not Involved'

Nevins Voluntarily Takes Lie Detector Tests After Rumors

OMAHA (AP)—Police Chief Harry Green said Wednesday night a lie detector test had "proved conclusively" that Arthur Nevins, father of the slain Carolyn Nevins, 20-year-old slain Omaha University co-ed, had nothing to do with her death.

Chief Green said Nevins came to the station voluntarily to take the test following "groundless rumors" he was involved in the death. These rumors, authorities said, had involved talk that Carolyn was "heavily insured." This is not true, Nevins said. The only policy on Carolyn was one for $1,000, he said.

'Never A Suspect'
Chief Green said Nevins had "never been considered" as a suspect, and Criminologist Dr. LeMayne Snyder of Lansing, Mich., engaged as a special investigator, commented that he had found in such cases that parents are "often subjected to needless suspicion."

Meanwhile, police released a 17-year-old youth arrested on the University parking lot late Tuesday night.

The youth was seized while driving around the lot.

Dr. Snyder returned from his Michigan home early Wednesday and told reporters he had "definite theories on the case" although he would not discuss them at this time.

Green added that police are specially interested in a tip on a late model Pontiac reported as having been seen coming out of the University drive between 10:30 and 10:40 p.m. Dec. 9, the night of the slaying. Dr. Snyder has said he believed Carolyn was shot between 10 p.m. and midnight.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Milk Industry Foundation predicts that milk consumption will continue to rise in 1956. C. Ray Brock, president of the foundation, says "fluid milk consumption, up 4 per cent in 1955 in the United States" will increase further next year.

Legless Veteran Parries Demands To Face His Accusers In Loyalty Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterans Administration officials agreed Wednesday to allow newsmen to cover a hearing at which the loyalty of James Kutcher, a legless ex-serviceman, will be argued this Friday.

It appeared unlikely, however, that Kutcher would be granted a second request pushed by his lawyers—to face his accusers.

Attorneys for the unemployed former VA file clerk from Newark, N.J., now threatened with loss of his $329 monthly compensation check, had insisted the hearing be open to the press. They also urged in a wire to the VA that persons whose charges brought about the loyalty investigation be summoned to confront Kutcher.

Charges Undisclosed
The exact charges have not been made public, but Kutcher has been in difficulty with the VA since 1948 for alleged associations and statements about the U.S. form of government.

VA officials met late Wednesday to consider the demands by Kutcher's lawyers. A spokesman announced afterward Kutcher has been notified personally his own "wishes will be honored" as far as admitting reporters is concerned.

The spokesman said the question of possible confrontation long an issue in government security cases, was not decided. He did say that on the basis of precedent, the accusers probably would not be called in for a face-to-face thrashing out of the charges. Various security officials have contended that barring their sources of information would hamper the effort to root out subversives from government service.

Not Requested
Kutcher's hearing will be conducted by the VA's central committee on waivers and forfeitures. Its proceedings have been closed in the past, but the spokesman said this was the first time the presence of reporters had been requested.

Kutcher's attorneys had declared "No one should be tried under charges of treason in a star chamber proceeding, and least of all one who has given so much for his country."

A VA regional office suspended Kutcher's $329-a-month pension, Nov. 30, pending an investigation. Headquarters reinstated the payments last week after the New York Post told of the suspension.

Friday's hearing was called to determine whether Kutcher has forfeited his eligibility under a wartime law shutting off VA benefits to anyone shown by evidence "to be guilty of mutiny, treason, sabotage or rendering assistance to an enemy of the United States or of its allies."

Kutcher already is battling in court to regain the VA job he lost in 1948. He was fired as a file clerk in the agency's Newark office for belonging to the Socialist Workers party, an organization on the attorney general's subversive list.

Kutcher lost both his legs under German mortar fire in Italy in 1943.

Cleaning Fluid Fumes Hospitalize Seven In Family

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—The seven sons of the John Caudillo—aged five months to 11 years—were reported in good condition in a North Platte hospital Wednesday after being overcome by carbon tetrachloride fumes.

Mrs. Caudillo said she had cleaned a rug with the fluid and then gone to the kitchen. A short time later she noted that all was quiet in the other room where the boys had been playing. She looked in to find them all lying unconscious on the floor. The North Platte rescue unit administered oxygen and took them to the hospital.

Six of the boys were recuperating in one huge bed made up of three hospital beds tied together. The boys are Johnny Jr., 11; Frank, 9; Freddie, 6; Joseph, 4; Bobby, 3; Tommy, 2; and Steve James, five months.

Dionne Family Rift Denied By Counsellor

Girls Seek Privacy And Freedom

Parents Decline Further Comment

MONTREAL (AP) — The apparent rift between the Dionne quintuplets and their family is not a rift at all, merely the effort of the girls to win freedom, privacy and a life of their own, a friend and counsellor said Wednesday.

Tuesday Olivia Dionne complained publicly that his famous daughters were drifting away from their parents and family under the influence of "outsiders." Yvonne, one of the four surviving quintuplets, denied it in tears. Wednesday the Montreal Star reported Yvonne, Annette, Marie and Cecile held council among themselves and decided to ask a friend to explain their decision to live away from their parents' home.

Businessman Friend

It described the friend as a businessman and quoted him as saying in an interview that the girls were depressed and upset by their father's statement in North Bay that they were rejecting their family. Dionne retracted nothing after Yvonne's denial.

"I don't regret having issued the statement," he said.

"It wasn't something that was done on the spur of the moment. Mrs. Dionne and I remained silent about the matter for a long time, but the embarrassment we were suffering over the separation became so great we felt obliged to make public how we felt about it."

"They themselves now say they want to be by themselves. That confirms the separation. But we hold no grudge against the quintuplets. The stories out of Montreal support what we said in the first place—that the girls are being influenced by outsiders."

Dionne said he and his wife had no more to say and had rejected requests from television and radio stations and networks and from newspapers to elaborate their views on the quintuplets' new life in Montreal.

The Star quoted the spokesman for the girls as saying the quintuplets want it known that they long merely to live like other girls of 21, with a social life and male and female friends.

Normal Social Life

He said:

"They are enjoying a normal social life. They have friends of both sexes. They like to dance and listen to music and go to shows. They like to read, too, and they get a big kick out of cooking."

"The quintuplets want to make a little private life of their own. Maybe they'll get a little house, they're talking over this possibility. Meanwhile, they're having fun."

"They are very, very closely attached to one another. They understand each other's thoughts without a word being spoken."

"Marie and Annette would have gone home for Christmas but Yvonne and Cecile, who are in their second year of training for nursing, were on duty at the hospital."

They Say Cards Sent

"It was most important to the four of them to be together at Christmas. They sent cards home, they say, and can't understand why their parents didn't receive them." They all saw Mrs. Dionne about 10 days before Christmas when she visited them in Montreal, he said. "Everything seemed fine then."

"They have been talking about going home for New Year's together, but now they aren't going. Cecile will have time off, but not Yvonne, and they don't want to be separated. The next time they go, they'll go together."

Yvonne and Cecile are nursing trainees at the Notre Dame de l'Esperance Hospital, where Marie and Annette were patients under treatment for a run-down condition until last week. The girls have taken an apartment in northwest Montreal.

Home Owned By Girls

The spokesman said the Dionnes' big 18-room home in Callander, Ont., is owned by the quintuplets. The girls are happy to continue their financial aid to the family, he said. Currently they are paying for their younger brother, Victor, to take an electronics course in Toronto.

Parker Taken To Home Where Wife Murdered

ers, Parker's father, Lynn Parker of Henderson, Ia., Dep. Sheriff Bill Johnson (partially ob-

Parker Visits Slaying Scene With Parents And Attorneys

Darrel F. Parker, charged with first-degree murder in the death of his wife, Nancy, visited the murder home with his parents and defense attorneys Wednesday afternoon.

Parker was taken to the house from the State Penitentiary by Lancaster Co. Sheriff Merle Karpopp and Dep. Sheriff Bill Johnson.

Attorneys Kenneth Cook of Glenwood, Ia., and Max Towle of Lincoln talked with Parker about a half-hour in a car outside the house, then spent almost another half-hour inside the house.

Parker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Parker of Henderson, Kan., and Asst. Police Chief Eugene Master and Atty. Thomas McManus of Lincoln also went inside the house.

Towle said the defense wanted an opportunity to view the house with Parker and to see if he could "show us anything that might be beneficial in his case."

Parker was then returned to the Penitentiary where he has been confined since arraignment in County Court and his plea of innocent to the murder charge.

Towle said Parker's parents, after the visit to the house, visited Parker at the prison before returning to their Iowa home.

Parker's wife was found strangled on the bed in the Parker home at 3200 Sumner on Dec. 14.

CALIFORNIA WADES INTO MUCK, GOO

... Aid Promised

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Northern California, aided by the massive rehabilitation forces of federal and private agencies, toiled under clearing skies Wednesday to dig out from the soggy ruins left by the state's worst flood.

Promises of all-out aid from such diverse interests as the federal government, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, the Red Cross, church groups, insurance companies and labor organizations were being translated into action.

Only one threat remained in the flood-ravaged area where damage over $150,000,000 was wrought and 67 are known dead and missing.

Residents of Yuba City, hardest hit community, were allowed to return to their homes Wednesday morning to begin cleaning up.

Ordered To Leave

They were ordered to leave again at 5 p.m., however, because of the curfew clamped down to prevent looting and avert health problems. The city's sewage system is only partially back in operation.

Estimates of the homeless range as high as 50,000 and the Army engineers estimated that at the peak of the flood more than 1,000,000 acres were under water. The Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. said a preliminary estimate showed it suffered $3,000,000 to $5,000,000.

Auto Owners Tell Of Lost Articles

Four auto owners reported to police that articles and accessories had been stolen from their parked cars Tuesday night.

James Hansen of 4400 F, told officers four full-wheel size chrome hubcaps were lifted from his auto while it was parked in front of his home. Loss was estimated at $25.

Mrs. Charles Harlow of Greenfield, Ill., reported the same type of loss. Four chrome wheel discs were removed from her car which was parked in the front yard of 215 So. 44th, where she had been visiting. Loss was estimated at $25.

Jerry Eutsler of 922 So. 11th, complained that a right rear radio aerial was broken off and taken from his auto which was parked in front of his home. The aerial was valued at $10.95.

Mrs. W. F. Harder of 5330 Fairdale Rd., reported that a service station credit book and a lubrication book were removed from the glove compartment of her parked auto.

7 Children Die In Two Home Fires

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — A woodcutter's four small children died Wednesday in a fire which swept the family home in the Upper Peninsula town of Newberry, 60 miles west of the Soo.

And in Atchinson, Kan., three children lost their lives in a fire that swept their home.

The Michigan victims were Bernadine Sevorn, 5; Arthur, 4; Karen, 3, and Robbin Elizabeth, 1.

Their mother, Joyce, 24, told police she went to a neighbor's house to use the telephone. She glanced out a window and saw flames spouting from the small, one-story frame home.

Intense heat and flames prevented rescuers from reaching the trapped children. Their father, Arthur, 27, was working at the time.

PRICE CONTROL ON NEWSPRINT IS THREATENED

QUEBEC CITY (INS)—Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis repeated Wednesday his threat to impose newsprint price controls as soon as the Quebec Legislature reconvenes Jan. 10.

"The newsprint industry has shown it wants the law and it shall get it," Duplessis stated.

"I have tried everything to make some of these men in the newspaper industry understand reason, but they seem bent on going ahead with their plans."

Early this month Duplessis warned newsprint producers he would impose price controls and prohibit exports unless the producers cancelled recent price increases to Quebec consumers.

Canadian newsprint manufacturers put a $5-a-ton price boost into effect in November, raising the cost to $131, but the big Abitibi Co. recently cancelled this increase and announced instead $4 per-ton increase effective Jan. 1.

GOC Will Accept Cornhusker Roof Observation Post

The Lincoln Ground Observer Corps voted at a meeting Wednesday evening to enter into negotiations toward acceptance of A. Q. Schimmel's offer to locate a new observation post on top of the Cornhusker Hotel.

It was the opinion of the Observers that the central location at the Cornhusker and the offer of heat, light and elevator service made the site very suitable.

Bill Deneke of Capitol Parking garage had also offered free parking facilities.

The group gave a vote of thanks to George Vlasnik, who had previously completed negotiations for a building site at 30th and D.

A table of organization submitted by Mrs. Robert J. Turner, post supervisor, was approved.

Officers elected were: Adam Brehm, treasurer, Mrs. Milton Hagelberger, social chairman, and Mrs. Ralph Fox, public information officer.

Other posts to be filled at the next meeting are corresponding and recording secretary, transportation officer, recruiting officers, post maintenance and chief observer.

COMET III JET CROSSES ATLANTIC IN 6 HOURS

LONDON (AP) — The giant Comet III, Britain's hope for jet supremacy, whistled from Montreal to London Wednesday in 6 hours 18 minutes—the first nonstop Atlantic crossing by a passenger jet airliner.

The gleaming cigar-shaped Comet sped the 2,350 statute miles at an average speed of 548 miles an hour and landed at London Airport before cheering crowds.

The Atlantic flight was the last leg of a 30,000 mile round-the-world test trip to prove to the world that the Comets — plagued by disaster in the past — are back in business.

Vindicates Our Faith

"This flight has vindicated our faith in British jets," said Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of British Overseas Airways Corp., in congratulating pilot John Cunningham, captain of the silver Comet's 11-man crew.

The de Havilland Aircraft Co. built the Comet III as a proving model for the bigger and more luxurious Comet IV which BOAC hopes to put into passenger service in 1959.

The Comet IV is Britain's answer to America's two jet airliners — the Boeing 707 and Douglas DC8 which are to go into service about the same time.

Disastrous Crashes

Britain lost its jet airliner lead to the United States in 1954 when the Comet was grounded after two disastrous Mediterranean crashes in 1954. The new Comets — produced after rigorous laboratory tests — still must catch up commercially with the American jet airliners, which together racked up about a billion dollars worth of American and foreign orders over the last three months.

The Comet ran into trouble once during its 26-day test flight. Last Thursday a fire warning flashed on the Comet's control panel shortly after take-off from Montreal and Cunningham returned to the airport to find an exhaust pipe had become detached from an engine.

The Comet took off Dec. 2 from Hatfield and flew to Cairo, Bombay, Singapore, Darwin, Sydney, Melbourne, Perth, Auckland, Fiji, Honolulu, Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal.

5 Boys Held In Shooting Of Girl, 10

NEW YORK (AP) — Five young boys were held Wednesday in the live target shooting of a 10-year-old girl, struck down by a bullet in the back.

The victim, Patricia Murphy, was in critical condition. It took a five-hour operation to remove the bullet.

Police said the five youths were shooting at tin cans in a Bronx lot with a .22 rifle. Bored with their inanimate target, a 15-year-old aimed the gun at Patricia some 150 yards away and boasted:

"I'll bet I can hit that girl over there."

He fired, police said, and the bullet struck Patricia, who was returning home with her 8-year-old half brother, Arthur Baker. Patricia thought she had been hit by a stone and went on home.

Hours later and some miles away in Queens, police seized three teen-agers in a purse snatching. They quoted one of the trio, 15, whom they did not identify by name, as telling them:

"Why all this bother about small stuff? We shot a kid in the Bronx a few hours ago."

The boys then supplied the names of two others involved in the shooting. The youngest of the five boys was 12, the oldest 16.

Chambers Bid Low For Storm Sewer

The Chambers Construction Co. submitted at City Hall the low bid of $82,490 for construction of a storm sewer from 36th and O to 39th and L.

The project, when completed, will close up an open drainage ditch that has been a subject of objection from surrounding property owners.

George L. Vlasnik submitted the low bid of $12,364 for construction of a water main to serve an area from 60th to 61st, South to Normal.

Colorado Officers Question Shannon About 2 Murders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arrested Christmas day after trying to steal a purse in a church, John Shannon, 26, will be returned to Colorado Thursday for questioning in two recent murders.

B. Lewis Hawley, investigator for the first judicial district of Colorado, and W. L. Kerns, Adams County, Colo., sheriff's office, came here to question Shannon about the slaying of motel man, Herman Eggenberger, last Nov. 27, in Lakewood, Colo.

The officers said that Shannon did not admit the killing but offered to return with them "to help clean up the case." He signed an extradition waiver.

Omaha authorities also are interested in questioning Shannon in the killing of Carolyn M. Nevins, 20, a University of Omaha honor student, last Dec. 9.

Prosecuting Pen Escapees Left To Saunders County

Escape prosecutions of two Nebraska Penitentiary inmates who slipped away from work details at Ashland Monday will probably be originated in Saunders County, Lancaster County officials said Wednesday.

Chief Deputy County Attorney Dale Fahrbruch said he had been informally advised to that extent by the Attorney General's office.

The jurisdictional question was posed when two inmates escaped custody during work details at Ashland in Saunders County, even though they are inmates of the Penitentiary, located in Lancaster County.

Both men were apprehended less than 12 hours later.

Justice Department Will Request Congress To Lighten President's Work

Thursday, December 29, 1955 THE LINCOLN STAR 3

Immigration Law Changes Also Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Proposals to lighten the physical work of the President, as well as to make major changes in the immigration laws, will be urged on Congress by the Justice Department next month.

Department sources gave a broad outline of the legislative program Wednesday.

They said bills relating to the President's work load do not envisage any delegation of important powers or, as has been suggested in some quarters, creation of an "assistant president's" job.

But, these sources went on, Congress could relieve the President of many hours of work weekly by eliminating some of the requirements for his signature hundreds of times on documents, some of them of a trivial nature.

126 Signatures

One department official noted that when President Eisenhower issued Christmas clemencies to 42 persons last week the normal routine would have required him to sign his name 126 times.

However, Atty. Gen. Brownell worked out a single document for the 42, which the President had to sign only once. This single signature empowered the attorney general to issue the individual clemency orders over his name.

The official said the same idea could be worked out in other departments and agencies by slight changes in the law.

Brownell disclosed recently that the legislative program would involve requests for "drastic" changes in the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

Alien Quotas

It is now reported that the immigration changes to be sought will include revisions of the present system of alien admission quotas, which former President Truman once denounced as "infamous racial discrimination."

The Justice sources said revisions also are needed to provide greater administrative discretion in handling of "hardship cases" such as the separation of families.

They also said legislation is needed to speed up the deportation of undesirable aliens, particularly those who have engaged in criminal activity.

The attorney general was represented as feeling that every alien facing deportation action had the right to go to the courts, and take his case to the top, but should not be permitted to bring repetitious court actions in diverse districts for the purpose of delaying his exclusion from the country.

Not Disclosed

Just what changes will be asked in the immigration quota systems were not disclosed.

The present quotas, set up for each foreign country, carry forward the quota base of 1921, which was calculated on the national origins of the U.S. population at that time.

The present act was passed over the veto of Truman, who said the quota base was long-outdated and that it discriminated against the peoples of eastern and southern Europe and others who most needed refuge in this country.

Still Critical

Michael Lococo, 31-year-old member of the Lincoln Naval Air Station force, remained on the critical list Wednesday evening. However, officials at Veterans Hospital said Lococo had shown improvement since he was admitted last Friday. He was injured when an ejector seat of a TV-2 jet trainer accidentally discharged. He received head injuries.

Work To Begin January 2 On Base Housing Project

Work on 400 family housing units at the Lincoln Air Force Base is slated to begin Jan. 2.

It is the first project in a plan to eventually provide 1,160 housing units for Air Base personnel.

J. W. Bateson Co. of Dallas, Tex., has the $5,041,850.25 contract for the units, streets, sewers, lighting and playgrounds.

The units will be located on the southwest corner of the present Air Base, about a mile south of Husker Village, on about 144 acres of land procured from the city.

The development is bounded by Adams on the south and by Avenue B on the east.

Completion of the first 75 units is to be within 300 days. The next 31 must be finished in 390 days, 45 more in 540 days and the rest within 660 days.

Full Forces Out To Patrol Holiday Roads ... May Use Planes

A motorized attack against death on Nebraska highways will be launched over the New Year's weekend, authorities said Wednesday.

Spearheading the attack will be a full force of Nebraska State Safety Patrol troopers, 122 cars strong. The patrol has 162 uniformed officers, but some are in communications and criminal work.

Col. C. J. Sanders along with Lincoln Police Chief Joseph T. Carroll issued warnings against speed and both urged special driving caution, especially in adverse weather.

The Safety Patrol chief said planes may be used out of Omaha and North Platte to patrol sections of main east-west and north-south highways in the state. The colonel said the Patrol has standing arrangements for renting a plane at Omaha and one at North Platte when needed.

A walkie-talkie arrangement in the planes spots speeders and helps break up traffic jams that might occur.

Gov. Victor Anderson said no consideration has been given to possible use of the National Guard for traffic duty on New Year's, a plan being considered in Illinois.

Nebraska to date this year has counted 313 traffic deaths, compared to 328 a year ago. There were three over the Christmas weekend, compared to two for the same weekend a year ago.

37 Million Enrolled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau said approximately 37 1/4 million students were enrolled in school or college at the beginning of the current school year. This was an increase of about 1,300,000, or 4 per cent over a year earlier.

Keeping Hands Busy

We have no idea whether inmates of Nebraska's State Reformatory and the Nebraska Penitentiary can produce more food for the needs of the institution, given the opportunity, but if that is the case it would reduce institutional costs under the Board of Control.

Farm operations at the Reformatory will be cut back slightly next year, according to the new superintendent, Robert E. Nichols. The cut-back results because farming operations at the Fairmont Airport are not being renewed under the Board of Control.

A Year Of Great Promise

What may well be called the most massive assault on the mysteries of the universe man has ever known is being mobilized at this time. Upward of 5,000 scientists representing 42 nations are preparing to participate in an international geo-physical year.

Formal dates set the year's beginning at July 1, 1956, closing in July 1957. But in this case science is not being mathematically precise. Admiral Byrd's exploration of Antarctica, already under way, figures as a part of the research and there are enough other penetrations of the unknown or partly known to require at least 18 months to complete.

But it is significant that science in the light of recent discoveries was never better armed der a lease that has expired. It shouldn't be difficult, however, for the Board of Control to obtain necessary land for farming operations to supply several of the institutions under its supervision with substantial amounts of food.

It should be possible to raise cattle and hogs, and poultry so as to eliminate the necessity of the board's purchasing vast amounts.

And it would mean work for otherwise idle hands.

and certainly with 5,000 scientists in the front lines it was never so greatly manned. Out of such a mass attack is expected to come such a treasury of new discovery as will keep mankind busy for decades applying it in all its variations to human use and service.

It is a stimulating thought, telling the world that it has so much to do and look forward to that it simply has no time to bicker over such few and paltry things it now possesses. Obviously there is more than enough for everyone and no one needs to covet what his neighbor presently has. This may be hard for nations and statesmen to comprehend because they see dimly, but it is brightly illustrated by the fact that the scientists are pulling together without regard to curtains, iron or otherwise.

News, Both Good And Bad

To many Nebraskans 1955 will be remembered as the year of the drought, of short farm production, declining income or of increased irrigation, booming business and bright promise. But to the state's newsmen it will be remembered as a year of big stories.

Nebraska weighed heavily in national news and it was not all bad.

A year-end Associated Press poll listing the top ten stories gave first place to the rioting at the Nebraska penitentiary, providing an august climax to a year of restlessness in the state's correctional and penal institutions, to admin-

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Although observed generally as a holiday, Monday's callers brought to the office a Central Nebraska citizen interested in farming. He thought the administration and particularly Secretary Benson had been most unfair in the treatment of people who derive their income from the soil. He said he could not understand how some Nebraska papers placed so much emphasis upon developments which are harmful to the pocketbook interests of the Nebraska farmer. He brought along clippings to illustrate his criticism of the press.

In reply to a question from us, he said that in his own neighborhood three young farmers and their wives had been compelled to toss in the sponge, dispose of their equipment, salvage what they could, and seek other employment. He said he happened to be lucky. He had other sources of income than that which came to him from the farm, and so his own case projected no crisis at this time, and currently the long continued decline in farm commodity prices presented him with no problem of desperation. The caller directs attention to a situation on which too many business men and too many urban dwellers appear either to be uninformed or indifferent. We had just picked up the slack in population loss in Nebraska when 1955 resulted in a drastic drop in farm income. Those of us who live in the cities may shrug our shoulders and say that what happens out on the farm is of no concern to us, but when we do we should shop for a dunce cap at the same time. We are highly dependent upon each other in Nebraska—farm and city—rural and urban. There are not over three or four states in the Union where a drop in farm income reflects itself more sharply in the urban localities than in Nebraska.

In 20 southeast Nebraska counties there has been an estimated population loss of 2,000 since 1930—two years of agricultural prosperity—three years of declining farm commodity prices. During that same time, the urban regions reflected a gain in population.

There are innumerable arguments centering upon the question of whether the "family farm" is doomed. Bernie Camp touches upon it in his latest statement as information director of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Camp happens to be one of those of whom our caller was most critical. The corporation farm, Mr. Camp says, threatening to eliminate the family farm, is no threat presently. The family farm supposes that there is an interest beyond mere hourly wages and limited hours. We will grant readily that the man on the farm and his wife and his children are there primarily because of a love of soil and the wholesomeness of farm life, but we do not believe that because they have that interest beyond hourly wages, their share of the national income should confine them to peasant standards. We think anything to improve and enrich rural life is well worthwhile, and unfortunately much to contribute to its beauty and its contentment calls for money.

Family Farm Doomed

We have no apologies to offer for continued criticism of Benson's farm program. The American farmer has paid heavily for it since 1953. It is a little bit bigger, a little bit more important than partisan politics. No state in the Union has a bigger stake in an effective farm program than Nebraska, and no people should be more concerned, whether they live on the farm or in the city, than Nebraskans.

How's That?

There is nothing wrong in chiding the American people for lack of understanding of government and military affairs, but we ask you, what is a citizen knowing only the English language going to make of such an announcement as this from a Defense Department spokesman: "We are finalizing the coordination and have not quite yet gotten to the reproduction and public release stage."

DREW PEARSON

Kefauver Would By-pass Brownell

WASHINGTON — Sen. Kefauver hasn't said much about it publicly, but he has discussed with Senate friends the idea of asking the Senate to appoint special counsel to prosecute those guilty of planting Adolpho Wenzell of the Big First Boston Finance Company inside the Budget Bureau for the purpose of hatching the Dixon-Yates deal.

Appointment of special Senate counsel would be an unusual procedure. It would mean going over the head of Attorney General Brownell who is supposed to prosecute for the government, and saying in effect that the Senate had no confidence in Brownell.

However, Sen. Kefauver figures Brownell will never move against officials of his own administration, including Eisenhower's budget director, Rowland Hughes, and Admiral Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. And there seems to be some reason to back Kefauver up.

First, Brownell is too busy trying to prosecute members of the Truman administration for matters which Brownell knew about three years ago and which need not have waited for action till an election year.

Second, Kefauver points out that Brownell, while sending a staff of 13 prosecutors to St. Louis to "get Truman," has completely neglected the conflicts of interest of ex-Secretary of the Air Force Harold Talbot and Peter Strobel, former public buildings administrator.

If the men were guilty of a conflict of interest—and they certainly resigned in a hurry—then, under Title 13, Section 434 U.S. Code, they were punishable by a fine of $2,000 or two years in jail or both.

Kefauver has been looking up certain precedents for the appointment of special counsel to go over the head of the Justice Department. One is the appointment of Louis D. Brandies as special people's counsel in probing wages and hours and the Ballinger-Pinchot case. Brandeis did such a notable job for the public that he was later appointed to the Supreme Court.

Another possible precedent was the appointment of Owen J. Robert and ex-Sen. Atlee Pomerene of Ohio to prosecute Albert Fall, Harding's secretary of the interior, and Attorney General Harry Daugherty in the Teapot Dome scandal. The country had lost confidence in the Justice Department, so Calvin Coolidge appointed these two to go over the head of the Justice Department as special prosecutors. Like Brandeis, Roberts did such a good job that he too was appointed to the Supreme Court.

In the recent Dixon-Yates case, Kefauver plans to point to various Brownell failures, the latest being his dismissal of charges against the Greek shipping magnate A. S. Onassis, who happened to have been a client of Brownell's when the attorney general was practicing law in New York.

The case against Onassis involved buying American ships, then transferring them to foreign flags. The case was largely developed by the Justice Department under Truman, though the final indictment was brought under Brownell. Brownell's subordinates did not know at the time, however, that their chief, the attorney general, and his law firm, Lord, Day, and Lord, had represented both Onassis personally and his company. U.S. petroleum carriers suddenly found that they had indicted the client who had been advised by Brownell and his law firm that it was quite legal for him to transfer American ships to foreign flags.

Naturally, all this would have been highly embarrassing if the Onassis case had ever come to trial. It would have shown that Brownell as attorney general was prosecuting a man for doing something which Brownell as a private lawyer had advised him to do. (Copyright 1955 By Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Red Cross Clears Tenneson Matter

NEW YORK—The passing show, Richard Tenneson, the returning coat, said just before he was turned loose by the Chinese Reds that the American Red Cross had sent him, and other renegade GI's, five dollars a month "milk and egg money." I quoted him, on the air.

No such thing, says Dan Romine, chief of the Red Cross' news and advertising department.

"The American Red Cross has had no contact with these men nor has it provided any funds whatever for them," Romine writes. "The Chinese Red Cross, which in times past has often acted for the current government, may have served as an agent for the government in making payments to these men. This is merely a supposition, however, which we could not substantiate."

"Conversely, we have done as much as possible for these Americans who have been detained against their will in China. We have provided food packages to those civilians whom the Chinese admit they are holding and we regularly sent food parcels to the American fliers whom the Chinese released."

"The American Red Cross long ago set up a system through which repatriates are met when they cross to freedom at the Kowloon bridgehead at the border between Hong Kong and the Chinese mainland. Each group is met by Red Cross people. They have only to make their needs known and the

INEZ ROBB

Up With The Joneses

It is my constant endeavor to move ever onward and upward with the arts, lively or otherwise, and to keep the customers informed of new developments in the climb.

Now despite the depletion of my personal budget by a recent holiday, which shall be nameless, I have felt impelled to make a down payment on a new colored television aerial.

No, no, Elmer: Santa did not force a new color television set on me. At our house, we are still stuck with the old-fashioned black-and-white set—except when the screen sulks and turns gray.

What I have now ordered is a brilliant, hand-painted red, white and blue aerial, patterned on the old barbershop pole, so dear to my childhood. And if it isn't sufficiently striking—I hesitate to use the word gaudy—when it is delivered, I plan to have it outlined in neon.

This is nothing I thought up all by my lonesome. I am eternally indebted for this idea to a Chicago tycoon-type television distributor who sold $695 to $1089 color TV sets like pepper suzettes at Christmas time.

During the landslide, only one thing distressed him, aside from Confederate money, and that was the fact that those who bought the color television sets had no way of letting the world know, short of a classified ad, that they had moved up several notches in the social and economic scale.

His solution of this problem for the new aristocracy is both simple and sublime: colored television antenna atop the roof that proclaims the house "A Home of Distinction," blessed with affluence and color teevee. This is one way of telling it from the roof-tops.

The logical among you may point out that, after all, since I have no color teevee, I am not entitled to a colored aerial. But this is a small-minded attitude. Did the fact that some people had no television set when they first came out keep proud folk from buying a phony plastic antenna and sticking it on the roof, so they, too, could hold up their assorted heads in public?

In the United States, keeping up with the Joneses is big business on which foundation is laid much of the nation's prosperity. Now is no time to cavil. Get the colored aerial and the color teevee will follow eventually, and 999 more payments, too, as night the day.

This Chicago dealer sold as many as a dozen color sets to business men who wished to butter up clients. My only regret is that no one felt toward me a lively sense of future favors. Maybe better luck next time.

In the meantime, at least the colored antenna is within my means. It is not enough these days to deck the halls with holly. Get thee to the roof-top, Ophelia, and paint that aerial. (Copyright, 1955, By U.F. Syndicate, Inc.)

The Ferdinand Of Dogdom

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

The Bill Johnstons of 740 East-borough Lane are still glad they made a mad dash for the piggy bank in their home.

The Johnstons had been searching the want ads for six months to find a German shepherd puppy. When finally an ad appeared with one German shepherd for sale, the Johnstons scrambled over to the address and bought her. To clinch the sale, they hurried home to grab the cash for Queen and hastened back to plunk the cash down and bring the pup home.

They got a lot for their money. At eight months the dog weighs 60 pounds and has not yet attained her full stature.

With one whisk of the dog's tail, the coffee table is cleaned of dust and any dishes on it. To activate this canine requires a five-pound sack of dog meal every three days or less.

Queen is far from ferocious. In fact, she spends a lot of her time mooning over a neighbor's dog. Neither dog is allowed to go beyond the confines of its respective yard. So the two dogs gaze at each other in silent dog affection.

The black and buff canine, the Johnstons report had a wonderful Christmas. But it was a short one for Queen.

In five minutes' time the rubber mouse was beyond repair. In five additional minutes the rubber bone was not worth burying. And as for the very special Christmas package from Kansas, a can of dog food, it was just a very fast passing fancy.

The German shepherd is quite a flower fancier. But instead of sniffing flowers, she chews on them. Even rose thorns will not halt the dog from her playful antics.

Both Bill and Verna Johnston

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Thanks again for all The Star has done to help the Christmas Seal sale along. Many people have also responded to the printed suggestion that they visit the chest X-ray survey center for a check-up. Those frequent reminders that tuberculosis is preventable, that it is usually curable if the chest X-ray can spot it early, are one of our most potent weapons in the fight against TB.

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I'm in a thankful humor and would like to say so. Monday I stood on the Burlington platform watching the group of students board the train for the Student Ecumenical Conference in Athens, O. It was exciting.

I saw The Star reporter take the picture which appeared in the Tuesday morning Star and it was a thrill to see it in the paper and read the brief but comprehensive report. I was beginning to be discouraged. A short account in another publication wasn't even accurate. But now I feel better.

Perhaps it wasn't known that some of these students are Lincoln residents, with Lincoln parents, and in many cases representing not only student organizations but Lincoln churches.

I've always felt that delinquent youth receive a disproportionate amount of space in the papers. It's good to see space devoted to a group interested in world brotherhood, of interest to Lincoln citizens.

Denver Experiment

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In your editorial of Friday, December 23, entitled "The Denver Innovation," you raise the question of why the school should be nine months long.

The best answer to that question is found in the need for qualified teachers. That three month "vacation" period is used by the teachers for additional training and refresher courses.

State law here in Nebraska requires that teachers attend at least two summer sessions after acquiring their first five-year certificate in order to qualify for their permanent professional certificate. They must attend one summer session every five years just to retain their temporary five-year certificate. This requirement is generally standard throughout most states.

These requirements are necessary and admittedly are the bare minimum in maintaining a teacher's qualifications. It is reasonable to expect a teacher to be qualified in the social sciences (history, geography, civil government, social problems, etc.) and natural sciences (physics, chemistry, biology, etc.) if that teacher has not had a course of study in their teaching fields within the past 20 years or even 10 or five years? Of course the answer to such a question is "No!" Therefore the so-

3 Inmates Get Year For Escape

Two Nebraska Penitentiary inmates and a Reformatory inmate received Wednesday additional one-year Penitentiary terms for escape.

All were arraigned before Lancaster District Judge Paul White, who pronounced sentence.

Harold V. Fitzpatrick, 35, Modale, Ia., pleaded guilty to escape by walking away from a prison farm detail on June 9.

Fitzpatrick, who was serving a three-year burglary from Douglas County, was apprehended at Vancouver, Wash., and returned.

Alvie Taylor, 32, from Chapmanville, W. Va., pleaded guilty to escape by walking off a dairy detail on April 26. He was apprehended at Durango, Colo.

Taylor was serving a five-year term for robbery from Lancaster County.

Kenneth Fox, 17-year-old Reformatory inmate from Modesto, Calif., pleaded guilty to escape from the institution on July 13 by hiding in a truck.

The youth had been originally committed to the Kearney State Training School for Boys, but broke custody in May, 1955, was apprehended and transferred to the Reformatory, where he escaped.

Fox was sentenced Dec. 9, 1955, in Saline County to concurrent terms of four and two years for robbery and auto theft, committed while at liberty.

He was charged with holding a 76-year-old Crete man at gunpoint and taking $16 from him and then driving the man's car to Grafton and abandoning it.

50% More Samples Tested By State Lab

A 50 per cent increase this year in the number of materials samples tested reflects the expansion of the highway program, State Engineer L. N. Riss said Wednesday.

Laboratory Chief J. L. Mullen reported 33,000 samples received and tested in 1955, compared to 22,985 in 1954.

He said the increased volume of work was handled with relatively small increase in personnel.

Prison Riot Topped '55 State News

A-Power Plant Approval Captures No. 2 Spot

By E. E. MAKIESKY
Associated Press Staff Writer
Riot and rebellion at the state penitentiary in Lincoln produced the biggest Nebraska news story of 1955 in the opinion of Nebraska editors.

Newsmen, voting in the annual Associated Press poll, were almost unanimous in rating the prison uprisings at the head of the ten best state stories list.

The story broke on an otherwise quiet Sunday, March 27, when word came out of the Nebraska penitentiary that two prison guards were being held hostages by convicts. It was 65 hours later before the suspense-filled revolt ended and the hostages emerged unharmed.

In the aftermath, Warden Herbert H. Hahn resigned and Joseph B. Bovey became warden. But prison troubles were to capture still more headlines in 1955. On Aug. 16 some 200 inmates rioted again and set fire to prison buildings, causing more than $100,000 damage. The rebellion collapsed only when armed troopers and national guardsmen marched into the cell block with orders to shoot to kill if necessary.

A-Power Rates No. 2
The Atomic Energy Commission's preliminary approval of A-power plants for Nebraska rated as the No. 2 story.

Interest in Consumers Public Power District's bid for a nuclear powered electric generating plant in Nebraska heightened steadily throughout the year. It came to a head with the Atomic Energy Commission announcement Oct. 27 that Consumer's proposal had been accepted as a suitable basis for negotiating contracts.

This plant would do double duty as a producer of power for Nebraska and as the hub of a new industrial development based on the by-products possible through use of radio-active spent fuel elements.

How They Rated
Here, in sequence, is how the other Nebraska news was rated:

3. Nebraska slayings—three in 10 days. Violence dominated Nebraska news in the closing weeks of 1955 and the aftermath is certain to be top news in 1956. A series of brutal slayings started when Erick Burkowitz, 63, an Omaha taxi cab driver, was shot Dec. 5 in a robbery that netted $17. Only five days

Nebraska's 10 Best

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

1. Rebellion and riot hit Nebraska penitentiary; warden leaves.

2. Atomic Energy Commission gives preliminary approval to A-Power plant for Nebraska.

3. Nebraska slayings—3 killings in 10 days.

4. Droughts balk 1955 crops.

5. Firing of Supt. Morris brings reformatory riot and ouster hearing.

6. Car accident claims 10 lives in northeast Nebraska.

7. Coach Bill Glassford quits Nebraska.

8. Legislature approves record high appropriations in longest session.

9. Tornado and floods ravage North Platte valley.

10. Nebraska power groups press for unity; special legislative session asked.

later, Carolyn Nevins, 20, attractive and brilliant University of Omaha student, was found shot to death on a snowy campus roadway. The third killing happened in Lincoln Dec. 14 when Mrs. Nancy Parker, 22, wife of the city forester, was strangled to death.

At year's end, James Thomas LaRosee, 19 year old AWOL airman, awaited trial for the killing of the taxi cab driver. Darrel Parker, husband of Nancy Parker, was held in Lincoln on charges of killing his wife. The Carolyn Nevins killing remains unsolved.

Drought Strikes

4. Drought barks 1955 crops. Drought struck two punishing blows at Nebraska during the year. An unusually dry winter got winter wheat off to a poor start and rolled up clouds of dust across the Panhandle and southeast Nebraska wheatlands. Widespread late spring rains brought a turnabout in wheat prospects but they gave way to a midsummer drought which shrunk the corn crop.

5. Firing of Supt. Morris brings reformatory riot and ouster hearing. On Sept. 8 the Board of Control fired Supt. Morris.

M. L. Wimberly, superintendent of the Boys Training School at Kearney, had hardly assumed his duties when a riot and fire shook the reformatory. A public hearing for Morris was held and he demanded reinstatement. The Board of Control has yet to rule.

6. Car accident claims 10 lives. The heaviest toll ever recorded in a single highway accident in Nebraska was put on the books Sunday, Nov. 20. The head-on crash of two cars west of Waterbury in Northeast Nebraska wiped out 10 lives.

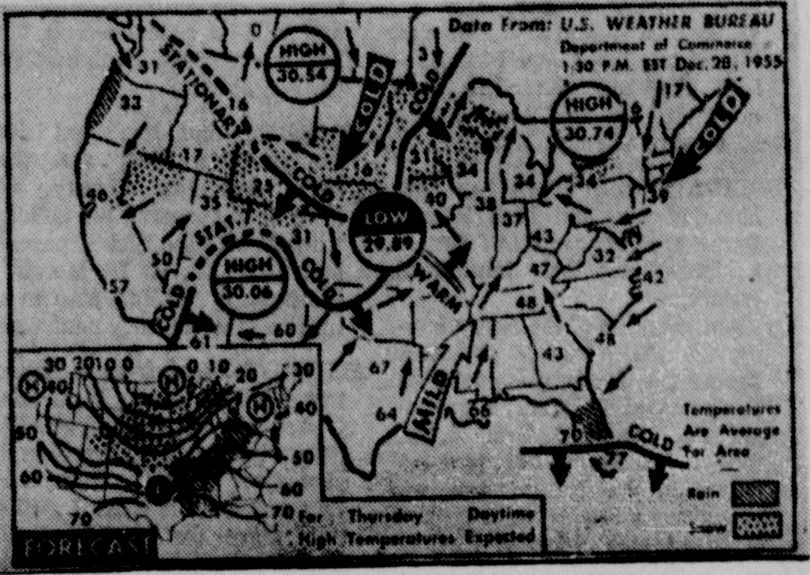

Glassford Quits

7. Coach Bill Glassford quits Nebraska; Pete Elliott, Oklahoma assistant coach, slated to succeed him. When Coach Glassford announced he was quitting, it was more than a sports page story. Front pages featured his decision not to exercise his five year option to go on coaching Nebraska football teams. Thus ended seven years of Nebraska coaching for Glassford who during that period had become one of the state's most controversial figures.

8. Legislature approves record high appropriations in longest session. The last act of the legislature was approval of a record smashing appropriations bill authorizing $223,664,676 in state spending during the next two years. The figure far surpassed the 197 million dollars budget of 1953-55, the previous record.

9. Tornadoes and floods ravage North Platte valley. Even by standards of the weather-battered great plains the 48-hour period, June 27-28, were terrible ones in the North Platte River valley. A tornado ripped to pieces a housing project at the fringe of Scottsbluff, killing two, and injuring 30 others. At the same time the North Platte river spread to as much as two miles wide in the vicinity of Mitchell, Neb.

10. Nebraska power groups press for unity; special legislative session asked. Power problems took a commanding position in the news because of the oft-spoken warning that unless immediate steps were taken Nebraska would face a power shortage before 1960. Efforts of publicly owned power groups to get together to consider consolidation of their resources made news throughout the year. As 1955 drew to a close demands for a special session were in abeyance, but only on a wait-and-see basis.

Miss America Will Appear At G.I. Event

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—Sharon Kay Ritchie of Grand Island, bet-tr known to the nation as Miss America, will make her official homecoming here Jan. 5, in connection with the All America City celebration.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ritchie of Grand Island, Miss Ritchie, a student at Colorado Woman's College, entered the Miss America pageant as a representative of Colorado.

Bill Dauer, manager of the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce, said the Miss America Pageant committee in charge of Miss Ritchie's appearances agreed to cancel one of her engagements in order that she could appear in Grand Island.

Miss America will make her official appearance before her hometown audience the night of Jan. 5 during ceremonies at the new Grand Island High School auditorium.

Dauer revealed a parade may be staged during the day, depending upon the weather.

Grand Island was recently selected by the National Municipal League and Look Magazine as All America City due to school improvement projects.

RE: THIS AND THAT

Bride On Wednesday

MRS. RICHARD L. PHELPS

Cathedral candles, greenery, and holiday blossoms formed the background for the wedding of Miss Gloria Ann Sanchez, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Sanchez of Falls City, to Richard Loudell Phelps of Irvington, N.J., son of Dr. and Mrs. M. O. Phelps of Lincoln, which took place on Thursday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church in Falls City. Three hundred guests attended the ceremony which was solemnized by the Rev. Walter Kochheim, and Miss Margaret Goldsmith, the vocalist, was accompanied by Mrs. William Persons, organist, who also played the wedding music.

Miss Lou Rita Sanchez, her sister's maid of honor, Miss Jody Franklin, Miss Salome Bohl, both of Evanston, Ill., Mrs. Don Olson of Omaha, the bridesmaids, wore alike frocks of unglossed satin in the winter green shade. The fitted bodices were fashioned with deep V's at the necklines, and the wide, bell-shaped skirts were designed with soft side drapes. Each wore a half-hat that reflected the tone of her frock, and each carried a bouquet of white carnations, dusted with silver, and holly sprays.

Robert Phelps of Omaha served his brother as best man, and the ushers included Robert Holtz, George Athanas, both of Omaha; John T. Anderson, Lincoln and Dr. B. J. Sanchez. The bride appeared in a gown of pure silk in the gardenia tone. The slender lines of the sculptured long-sleeved bodice, its portrait neckline contoured with Alencon lace embroidered with pearls and paillettes, extended into the skirt which flared into accentuated floor-length bouffancy. A contour crown of sequins and pearls held to the head her tiered veil of fingertip length, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Mr. Phelps and his bride left for Irvington, N. J., following the reception in the church parlors, and will reside at 586 Stuyvesant Ave. For traveling the bride wore a jersey frock in the navy tone, and completed her ensemble with a gray fur cape and navy and white accessories.

The bride attended Monticello College, Alton, Ill., and was graduated from Northwestern University School of Dental Hygiene. Mr. Phelps is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

DELATED holiday arrivals, plus new names on the guest list — plus news of guests, who have returned to their homes — and homecomers who have returned to Lincoln, give us quite an assortment of this and that.

The late holiday guests are Lt. and Mrs. James Campbell who arrived in town on Monday for a brief visit with Lincoln friends — and who will leave again on Friday for Laredo, Tex., where Lt. Campbell is stationed.

THEN we heard that Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Lloyd of Phoenix, Ariz., arrived in town just in time to spend Christmas with Mrs. Lloyd's mother, Mrs. C. W. Sanford — And also guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford are her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Mott of Wichita, Kan.

HOLIDAY week guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perry are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Perry and their family, of Holdrege.

And mention of the Perry family reminds us that Lt. and Mrs. Ernest Bill Perry are guests at the home of Lt. Perry's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Perry. Lt. Perry has just returned to the States after two years service with the Marines in Japan and Okinawa. He has been released from the service and will be associated in business with his father, Robert Perry, in Holdrege.

LEARNED that Mr. and Mrs. Burkett Van Kirk and their small daughter, Christy, who have been spending the holidays with Mrs. Van Kirk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morris in Clarksburg, W. Va., plan to return to Lincoln early next week.

ALREADY home from a holiday trip are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carter and their daughter, Carolyn, who have been spending the past two weeks in New York City and in Butler, N. J., where they were the guests of Mr. Carter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Victor S. Carter.

AND someone told us that Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew Bunt-en, Jr., would be returning to their home in Cheyenne, Wyo., today after spending the Christmas holiday with Mrs. Bunten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth DuTeau. Mrs. Bunten, incidentally, arrived in Lincoln in time to be an attendant at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Daisy DuTeau, and Gates Minnick which took place on Dec. 19, and also was a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Phyllis Colbert and Lt. Charles Hunley, which took place on Tuesday evening, Dec. 27.

APROPOS of other members of the DuTeau family — just heard that Mr. and Mrs. Donald DuTeau of Kansas City are in town this week — the guests of Mrs. DuTeau's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rosenlof — and Mr. DuTeau's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin DuTeau.

Sigma Eta Chi Guests

When alumnae of Sigma Eta Chi, sorority for Congregational women, held their annual holiday party Tuesday evening, former members of the group were special guests.

Miss Vi Kriz of Denver, Colo., national sponsor of the sorority; Miss Aline Hahn of Chicago, past national vice president; and Miss Ruth Amen of Monroe, Mich., a past national sponsor. All are former residents of Lincoln.

Also included among the guests at the party, held at the home of Mrs. William Franz, was Miss Elizabeth Grone, a former faculty member at Lincoln High School, who is attending Columbia University, New York City, this year on a fellowship.

BRIDES

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent P. Rogers will entertain at their home on Friday evening, Jan. 6, honoring their daughter, Norma Jeanne, and her fiancé, James F. Lewis of Blue Ash, O., whose marriage will be an event of Saturday, Jan. 7.

Sixteen guests have been invited for a late evening buffet supper and will include members of the family and bridal party. Preceding the supper, a wedding rehearsal will be held at 7:30 o'clock at Sacred Heart Church.

Announcing plans for a January wedding is Miss Rosemary Schreiber, who will become the bride of Charles Davis on Sunday, Jan. 22. The ceremony will be solemnized at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at Frieden's Lutheran Church.

For her maid of honor, Miss Schreiber has named her sister,

Miss Ruth Schreiber, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Leona Dehning and Miss Margaret Petrie.

Miss Schreiber was honored recently at a dessert supper when Miss Melinda Grede and Miss Ruth Sothan entertained at the home of Miss Grede.

An honoree on Tuesday evening was Miss Beverly Craig, whose marriage to A. Ic Gordon Hunt of Newport, Ky., will take place on Sunday, Jan. 8. In courtesy to the bride-elect, Miss Adora Millstead and Miss Shirley Hornby were co-hostesses at the home of Miss Millstead at a dessert supper and miscellaneous shower.

Attending Miss Craig as maid of honor for the ceremony which will be solemnized at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at Grace Methodist Church, will be Miss Millstead, and serving Mr. Hunt as best man will be Gail Fuller.

MRS. DONALD J. EHMÉN

At an early evening service which took place Wednesday, Dec. 28, at Mount Olive Lutheran Church, Miss Eleanor Bitterman, daughter of Mrs. Jake Bitterman, became the bride of Donald J. Ehmén, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ehmén of Burchard. Scarlet poinsettias and lighted white candles appointed the altar for the ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. L. C. Gruendeman, and Mrs. Gruendeman, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied the vocal soloist, Ruford Bitterman, brother of the bride.

As her sister's maid of honor, Miss Bonnie Bitterman wore an afternoon frock of silver-blue polished cotton trimmed with rhinestones. Her small beaded hat was in matching tone and she carried a nosegay of white and red carnations.

Warner Langan of Sunflower, Kan., served Mr. Ehmén as best man, and the ushers were Robert J. White of Shenandoah, Ia., and Milo Hermance, Jr.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of brocaded white satin designed in the daytime mode. Fashioned with a squared neckline and cap sleeves, the fitted bodice was dotted with tiny rhinestones, and below the narrow waist, the gored skirt flared into fullness. Her small cap of sequin-trimmed satia was briefly veiled with illusion, and she carried a white Bible marked with a bouquet of white and red carnations.

A reception for 90 guests was

Miss Dorn's marriage to Lt. Merritt will take place on Monday, Jan. 2.

Marriage Solemnized

The marriage of Miss Hazel Mardell Hopwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal L. Hopwood of Grand Island, and the Rev. Warren Curtis Baker of Cortland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll W. Baker of Grand Island, was solemnized at 6 o'clock, Sunday evening, Dec. 25, at Trinity Methodist Church in Grand Island. Tall, lighted candles and crimson poinsettias decorated the chancel for the ceremony, the lines of which were read by Dr. James S. Chubb, and Miss Dorothy Ralston of Hastings, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Ralston also accompanied the Rev. and Mrs. Alan J. Justad of Grand Island, vocalists.

Wearing alike frocks of crystal-ette over taffeta in the American Beauty red tone were the matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Stubblefield of Shelton, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Jean Murray of Holdrege, the bridesmaid; and Mrs. Donald Lauts and Miss Georgia Harrell, both of Hastings, who lighted the candles. held in the parlors of the church. Upon their return from a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Ehmén will reside at 1107 L.

Fan arrangements of white pompons, white chrysanthemums and gladioli, against a setting of holly boughs and Christmas greens, appointed the chancel of the chapel at Westminster Presbyterian Church for the wedding of Miss Donna Stephenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dean Stephenson, and Charles J. Parks, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Parks, which took place at a 5 o'clock ceremony on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 28. Lighted candles in spiral candelabra were on either side of the chancel steps. The lines of the service were read by the Rev. Frederick Roblee, and Miss Josephine Waddell played the wedding music.

Mrs. Harold M. DeGraw, her sister's matron of honor; and Miss Betty Parks, sister of the bridegroom and the bridesmaid, appeared in danseuse-length frocks of crystalette in the cell blue tone. The empire bodices, designed with shoulder-wide necklines and brief sleeves, were outlined at the slender waists with soft folds which were drawn into picture bows at the back. Brow veils were held in place with frock-toned hair bandeaux, and they carried pink feathered carnations, touched with silver sequins, on a background of silver holly leaves.

Dean Zimmermann served Mr. Parks as best man, and seating the guests were Reuben Johnson, Omaha, and William Hurst.

The bridal gown of pure silk was in the gardenia shade and was fashioned with a long-sleeved silhouette bodice, suggesting the princess mode, and a voluminous skirt that flared from modified fullness at the hipline, into an extremely bouffant, graduated flounce that extended into a whisper train. The portrait neckline of the bodice was framed with Alençon lace re-embroidered with pearls and paillettes. Her tiered veil of English illusion was held to the head with a half-bonnet of stiffened lace and she carried a fan bouquet of feathered chrysanthemums and camellias on a background of holly leaves.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors.

The bride is attending the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Dons Face UCLA For Meet Title

NEW YORK (AP) — The mighty San Francisco Dons won their 35th game in a row over a two-year span by storming from behind to outclass Holy Cross, 67-51, and UCLA swept past defending champion Duquesne, 72-57, Wednesday night in the semifinals of the Holiday Basketball Festival in Madison Square Garden.

With a capacity crowd of 18,496 on hand, bounding Bill Russell poured in 24 points to lead the Dons to their uphill victory—their eighth of the current season.

So it will be an all-California final Friday night in this tournament, sponsored by the Eastern Collegiate Athletic conference.

UCLA is the last team to beat San Francisco, at the beginning of last season.

Bounding Bill Russell, the Dons' big basket-master, sent 24 points through the hoop to pace his team.

In afternoon consolation games, St. John's of Brooklyn whipped Fordham, 97-85, and LaSalle of Philadelphia turned back Syracuse, 75-72.

Russell, the Dons' All-America center, also grabbed 22 rebounds and batted away five seemingly certain baskets by Holy Cross. In addition, the 6-10 "goal tender" won his heralded personal duel with his rival center, limiting 6-7 Tom Heinsohn to 12 points. Heinsohn averaged 30 points a game in eight previous starts.

The crowd of some 18,000 thrilled to a close and brilliantly played game for 28 minutes before the Dons broke it wide open on the spectacular play-making of K. C. Jones, the unerring shooting of substitute Bill Mallen, and the defensive wizardry and "dunking" of Russell.

Except for the opening minutes, Holy Cross, obviously "up" for this game of games, held the upper hand until 8 minutes and 15 seconds of the final half. Until Russell leaped up to dunk a rim shot by Jones, tying the score at 43-43, the Crusaders had held the lead for a stretch of 20 minutes.

Then San Francisco took charge. Mallen sank two one-handers in succession, Russell flipped in a free throw and Jones tapped in a rebound to give the Dons nine straight points and a 50-43 lead at the 10-minute mark.

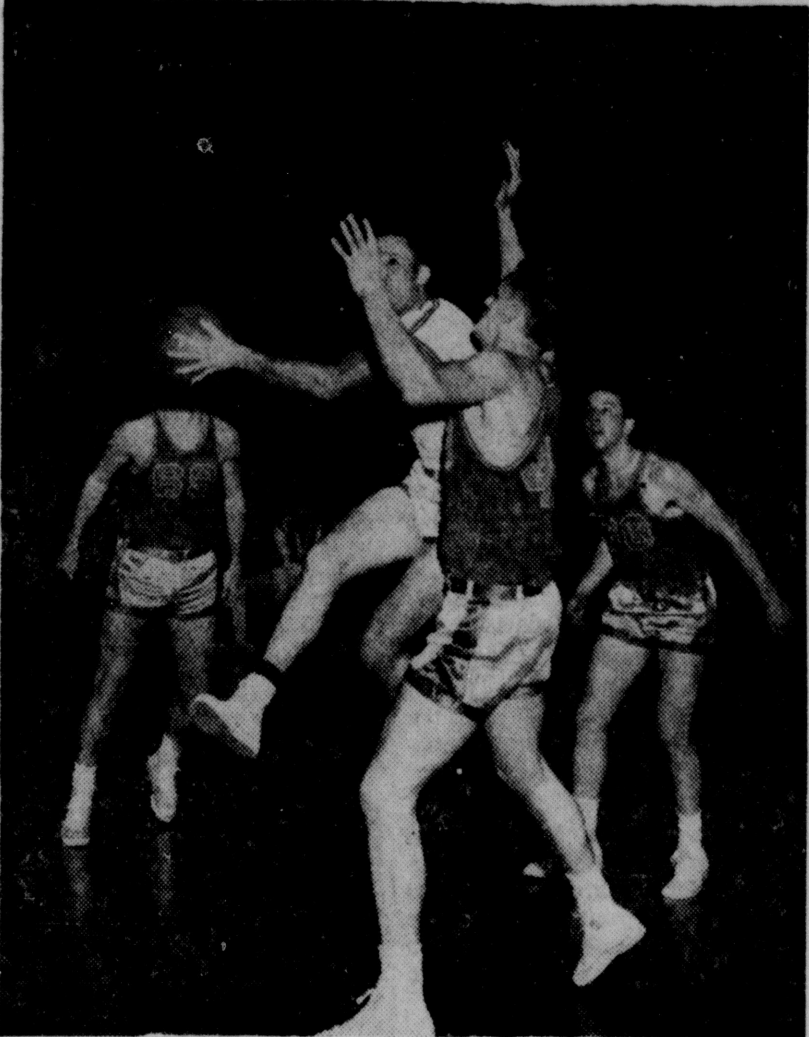

That finished the gallant five from Worcester, Mass., which previously had been beaten only once in eight starts. The utterly fatigued Crusaders just played out the string as the Dons rallied on to their lopsided victory.

St. John's of Brooklyn, hitting on 19 of 33 shots in the first half, whipped Fordham, 97-85, in the all-local windup of the afternoon consolation doubleheader. St. John's will meet LaSalle and Fordham will play Syracuse in the final consolation games Friday afternoon.

LaSalle streaked in front 36-17 in the first half and held a 15-point bulge, 38-23, at halftime. But in the second half, Syracuse, paced by football star Jimmy Brown, and Larry Louis, got hot and pulled ahead, 64-63, with less than four minutes remaining. In the spurt, Louis scored 11 of his 15-point total, and Brown 9 of his 15.

Sometimes You've Gotta Jump

Wesleyan's Jack Wood leaps past St. Thomas' big (6-7) Lou Shear to lay in a bucket Wednesday night at the Wesleyan gym.

Final Shot Gives NWU 72-70 Win

By RON SPEER
Star Sports Staff Member

"Fireman" Glen Reed pumped in a left-handed jump shot from eight feet out as the buzzer sounded to give Wesleyan a 72-70 victory over St. Thomas College of St. Paul, Minn. Wednesday night.

The ball was still skipping around the bucket seconds after the game was over, but finally dropped through for the winning tally.

Reed had duplicated the shot at the end of the first half, hitting with a jump at the buzzer to boost the Plainsmen to a 34-32 lead.

The game was tight all the way. Wesleyan dominated the first half, keeping a slim margin most of the period. But the Tommies stormed back after the intermission and held a narrow lead a good deal of the time.

Wesleyan's biggest lead was a 7-point spread, 28-21 after 16 minutes of play. St. Thomas enjoyed its widest margin with about six minutes left when it led, 61-55.

The score was tied 22 times during the contest.

Ted Hall, St. Thomas' 6-6 center, tossed in eight straight points midway in the second half and the towering Tommies looked like they were ending the game in their hip pockets.

But Jack Wood, Foster McGuire and Bob Leslie countered with field goals to keep Wesleyan within striking distance.

St. Thomas tried to play control ball and maintain their lead but the scrapping Plainsmen would have none of that. Grabbing rebounds, stealing the ball and intercepting passes, they fought back and tied the game up with 2:37 left when Reed hit a long set shot to make the score 63-63.

Leslie dropped in a layup but Jack Hoffman did the same for the Tommies.

Then Reed cashed in another set shot and the Plainsmen led by one after Hoffman connected from the free-throw line.

The Tommies' other big man at 6-7, Lou Shear, tipped in a field goal but Reed sank a long shot from the field to put Wesleyan in front again by one point.

It looked like it was all over minutes later as Hall sank a pair of free throws and the Plainsmen trailed by a point. Rodger Felix hit one of two free throws to tie it up again and Reed hit his final shot as the game ended for Wesleyan's third win against four losses.

Leslie led Wesleyan scorers with 21 points. Reed hit 18, all on field goals. Hall was St. Thomas' best with 22, on six field goals and 10 of 12 free throws. Jack Hoffman had 17 and Terry Flynn 14 for St. Thomas.

Jimmy Kubacki, Nebraska guard, reels toward the floor Wednesday night after being fouled in the act of shooting a field goal against Missouri in a first round game of the Big Seven Conference pre-season basketball tournament in Kansas City. The foul was charged against Redford Reichert (44), Missouri forward (right). Rocky, Moore, Basilio Leaders In Ring Rates

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano, Archie Moore and Carmen Basilio rank alone in their respective divisions in the annual boxing ratings of Ring magazine, copyrighted in its February issue.

For the third year in a row, Marciano overshadowed his entire field in the world ratings as undisputed heavyweight champion.

Moore, rated in both the heavyweight and light heavy classes, was rated without a serious contender as light heavy champion. He also was No. 1 challenger to Marciano. In the welterweight division Basilio was placed above all in his class.

A total of 1,768 of the 6,949 boxers registered in the world were ranked in the various divisions with the welterweight delegation of 408 men leading the field. Champions in all eight divisions defended their titles and four new champs were crowned. Two of the new titleholders were in the welter division where Tony DeMarco dethroned Johnny Saxton and was, in turn, toppled by Basilio. Wallace (Bud) Smith took the lightweight honors from Jimmy Carter and Sugar Ray Robinson came out of retirement to knock out Bobo Olson and win back the middleweight title.

There were nine deaths in boxing, including three in the United States. One of the men actually died of a heart attack and another due to an injury received in a sports carnival exhibition in a Vienna factory where there was no medical supervision. In 1954, there were 6 ring fatalities as compared to 21 in 1953.

The three men who died after U. S. bouts were middleweight Bryan Thompson of Philadelphia at Trenton, N. J., April 17; middleweight Jose Contreras of Taunton, Mass., at Providence, R. I., May 9, and welterweight Ferman King of Tampa, Fla., at Tampa, Dec. 1.

Champions in each weight division of the annual ratings:

Heavyweights: champion, Rocky Marciano; contenders, Archie Moore and Bob Baker.

Lighthweights: champion, Archie Moore; contenders, Floyd Patterson and Willie Pastrano.

Middleweights: champion, Ray Robinson; contenders, Carl (Bobo) Olson, and Charles Humez.

Welterweights: champion, Carmen Basilio; contenders, Tony DeMarco and Johnny Saxton.

Lightweights: champion, Wallace (Bud) Smith; contenders, Jimmy Carter and Duilio Lio, Italy.

Featherweights: champion, Sandy Saddler; contenders, Fred Galiana, Spain, and Ciro Morasen, Cuba.

Bantamweights: champion, Robert Cohen, France; contenders, Mario D'Agata, Italy, and Billy Peacock.

Flyweights: champion, Pascual Perez, Argentina; contenders, Leo Espinosa, Philippines, and Young Martin, Spain.

Bush was pleased with his youngsters. "I thought all of the boys played well," he declared. "Those first half free throws were just too much for us."

Nebraska State Fair Board Wednesday voted to run a full seven day fair schedule in 1956, Secretary Edwin Schultz announced.

At the same time the Fair Board inked a new contract with National Speedways Inc., which assured Nebraska racing fans of one more day of championship big car automobile racing.

Five days of speedway action will be on the slate during the 1956 Fair which will run from Sept. 1-7.

The contract with National Speedways was signed at the Fair Board office at the Fairgrounds with Al Sweeney of Chicago, president of National Speedways and supervisor of the track events.

Last year there were four days of action at the Fairgrounds grandstand. But in 1956 for the first time there will be three days of big car racing, one day of AMA sanctioned motorcycle racing and one day of stock car racing.

The 1956 schedule of events, according to Schultz, includes:

Saturday, Sept. 1—Big car races.

Sunday, Sept. 2—Big car races.

Tuesday, Sept. 4—AMA motorcycle races.

Thursday, Sept. 6—Big car races.

Friday, Sept. 7—Late model stock car races.

Tall 'Gusties' NAIA Go Winner

OMAHA (AP)—A tall Gustavus Adolphus club from St. Peter, Minn., opened the NAIA "Tip Off" Basketball Tournament Wednesday night by defeating Regis College of Denver, 83-71.

Three Minnesota giants did the heavy damage. Bill Patterson, 6-7, was the big wheel, scoring 23 points. Jim Springer, 6-8, and Jack Colvard, 6-5, pulled the Gusties into an 11-point lead midway in the second half.

Regis was led by Tom Hoogerwef with 18.

Hard-Fighting Huskers To Face Cornell Today

Lincoln Star Special
MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM, Kansas City, Mo.—A precision performance by Missouri at the free throw line in the first half proved the difference as the Tigers sent Nebraska into the losers' bracket of the Big Seven pre-season tournament here Wednesday night, 71-66.

Sarky Stalcup's Bengals sent 14 of 17 gratis tosses through the nets in the first 21 minutes to gain a 26-31 halftime lead. That was the margin of victory as both teams scored 35 points in the second half.

It was the best game of the tournament to date with Coach Jerry Bush's Huskers playing steady ball all of the way. Missouri had to go into a stall the final three minutes to hold off the determined Huskers.

Nebraska plays Cornell, defeated Wednesday night by Kansas, 75-58, in a losers' bracket game at 4 p.m. today. The Kansas Jayhawks will tangle with Missouri in the winners bracket at 9:45 p.m.

The game was punctuated by continual booing from the crowd of 10,000. Officials John Lloyd and Ken Pryor assessed 47 fouls. Twenty-nine of them were on Missouri with 20 of them coming in the second half. Nebraska warmed up at the free throw line in the second half, hitting 23 of 35 tries. But the overall record spelled the Missouri victory.

Rex Ekwall and little Jimmie Kubacki led the way for Nebraska. Rex battled the boards for numerous rebounds and scored 25 points. He hit a marvelous 13 of 14 free throws. Kubacki got 18 points and he made 10 of 12 free throws. But the other Huskers were cool at the line. Charley Smith made but 5 of 12.

Nebraska opened with a tight defense and Norm Stewart, the Tiger ace, didn't make a point for the first 11 minutes of play. He wound up the night with just 16 points.

The big trouble for Nebraska came from the hot shooting of Lionel Smith. He made 22 points, 14 of them coming as the Huskers pulled close in the second half.

The score was tied nine times in the first half and the lead changed hands five times. Nebraska held the advantage most of the way until the Tiger free throw shooting drew them abreast at 18-18. After two more ties, Stewart and Bill Ross combined to send Missouri into a 30-29 lead.

Missouri never trailed after that. Nebraska came within two points at 43-41 and within a single point at 49-48. But Lionel Smith scored off the fast break and Stewart added a jump shot which hit the ring and bounced high in the air, only to fall back through the basket.

Kubacki made it 53-51 when he scored on a drive-in and added a free throw after he was fouled. Ross, Smith and Stewart quickly pulled Missouri into a 58-51 margin and the issue had been settled with six minutes left to play.

Husker Don Smith, who scored 10 of his 12 points in the first half, was bumped in an under-basket scramble and may have suffered a dislocated jaw. He played the last 10 minutes after the injury. His condition was to be checked Thursday morning.

Bush was pleased with his youngsters. "I thought all of the boys played well," he declared. "Those first half free throws were just too much for us."

Mueller, Martinez Go Tonight

MILWAUKEE (P)—Vince Martinez, the Paterson, N. J., boxer who takes a serious view of his No. 3 ranking among the world's welterweights, lays it on the line Thursday night against Germany's Peter Mueller, who can be funny with everything but his fists.

And the ghost of Christmas Past may be working the corners in the scheduled 10-round bout at Milwaukee's Sports Arena. For just a year and a day ago, in this same ring, Ernie Durando dazed away his ranking after feeling the uncomic touch of the clown from Cologne.

19 Straight

Martinez, who made peace with Manager Bill Daly recently and is working for a June crack at Carmen Basilio's welter crown, has a string of 19 straight going. He's won 46 of 49 since he turned pro in 1932—26 of them by knockouts.

The trim and handsome Paterson sharpshooter has little to gain but the payday in this match, while the cheery beak-nosed German has little to lose. After knocking out Durando in the still hotly-disputed fight last Dec. 28, Mueller lost to Basilio and was knocked out by Joey Giardello last March before returning to Germany.

Substantial Payday
The payday, however, may be substantial. Mueller drew $24,474 with Durando, and $41,459 for the Giardello go. after Milwaukeeans, warned to the antics of the stubby visitor.

This will be Mueller's first Milwaukee appearance since the Giardello bout. Both fighters are supposed to make 154 pounds for the contest.

In the Durando fight a year ago, the Bayonne, N. J., Bomber whaled away at Mueller for four rounds, putting him down three times and apparently knocking him out in the fourth. But Referee Dauber Jaeger ruled Mueller beat the count, and in the seventh an enraged Durando was felled, as with a baseball bat, by a single Mueller punch. He was counted out while Mueller clapped his hands happily and bowed to the crowd from a corner.

Durando appealed the referee's fourth-round decision to the Wisconsin Boxing Commission and thence to the courts, without success.

Favored Role To Cincinnati

RICHMOND, Va. (P)—Cincinnati established itself as a red-hot favorite to win the second annual Richmond Invitational Basketball Tournament Wednesday night by routing Virginia 93-69 to move into tonight's semifinals against undefeated Seton Hall.

Seton Hall edged Virginia Tech 64-60.

The other semifinal scrap will send William & Mary against Richmond. W&M set a tournament scoring record by downing Rhode Island 100-96, and Richmond's Kenny Daniel led a second-half surge that propelled the Spiders to a 96-84 triumph over Army.

This afternoon's consolation round will pair Army against Rhode Island and Virginia Tech against Virginia.

Cincinnati, hitting on 54 per cent of its first-half shots, ran up a 49-33 advantage at intermission and coasted in.

Dave Plunkett and Phil Wheeler were the Bearcat's big guns, both dumping in shot after shot from all spots on the floor. Plunkett hit for 26 points and Wheeler for 20. Virginia's Bob McCarthy collected 22.

Daniel easily was Richmond's hero against Army.

Daniel, benched last week for his poor play, exploded for 8 straight points in a 2-minute stretch that began with less than 13 minutes left. Daniel's free throw after his field goal put Richmond ahead 60-59, and the Spiders quickly opened up a 10-point gap.

Army's Mark Binstein poked in 31 points and romped off with scoring honors.

William and Mary's 100 points broke the old record of 92 set last year by George Washington against Colgate in first-round action.

To win, the Indians had to overcome a 10-point deficit. Depending mostly on deadly set shots from long range, W&M moved ahead, 38-36, late in the first half and led, 43-44, at intermission. The Indians nursed a 6 and 7-point advantage through most of the second half.

BYU Wins Motor City Cage Classic

DETROIT (P)—Favored Brigham Young lost its three tallest starters early in the second half but trounced the University of Detroit 99-77 Wednesday night and won the fourth annual Motor City Basketball Classic.

The classy Cougars built a 51-26 lead at halftime and jumped it to 55-28 in the opening minutes of the second half.

Then, within a space of 5 minutes, Brigham Young lost 6-4 Johnny Benson, 6-6 Herchel Pederson and 6-4 Ed Pinegar on fouls.

Detroit, taking control of the backboards, moved up to 75-64 with 8 minutes to play. But the Titans' comeback fizzled as the Cougars, led by little Terry Tebbis, pulled away again in the closing minutes.

Tebbis, a 5-9 hotshot, scored 31 points following his tournament record of 36 against Toledo Tuesday night.

He was voted unanimously the tournament's Most Valuable Player by 15 sports writers.

Brigham Young's 99 points set another tournament record, breaking the mark of 91 run up by Detroit in beating Penn State last night.

In the opener of the doubleheader before 5,157 fans, Penn State took third place by whipping Toledo 78-66 as Rudy Marisa hit the key basket and wound up with 23 points.

Marisa, a 6-4 junior, connected for a field goal in the last two seconds of the first half, putting Penn State into a 31-30 lead at intermission. The Nittany Lions never lost that margin as they won their fourth game against three losses.

Clemson, South Carolina Advance

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (P)—Favored Clemson relied on racehorse basketball Wednesday night to defeat Louisiana State 100-95 in the first round of the Gator Bowl Tournament.

South Carolina whipped Georgia 85-68 in the opening game.

Clemson and South Carolina, two Atlantic Coast Conference schools, will meet for the title tonight after the Southeastern Conference representatives, Georgia and LSU, play a consolation.

Clemson and LSU see-sawed the lead until late in the second half when Dick Yearry's accuracy at the free throw line brought the Clemson Tigers into a 10-point lead at 90-80.

Miami Baseball Meeting Planned

MONTREAL (P)—The International Baseball League will hold a special meeting in Miami Jan. 3, League President Frank Shaughnessy said.

Sidney Salmon Jr., of Miami, who last week bought the Syracuse franchise from Martin Haske, has announced plans for operating in the Florida city.

Loop directors will be asked to make the transfer official. A revised style of schedule, with clubs making three visits to each city, will also be considered. Earlier, clubs had made only two trips to Havana.

Bobo Olson To 'Get Away From It All'

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Sid Flaherty is taking his ex-middleweight champion away from the bright lights to get him ready for a try at regaining the crown.

"We're leaving next week for a spot away from it all," said Flaherty, manager of Carl (Bobo) Olson. "I want to get him away from everybody and everything, with nothing on his mind but training and thinking things out for himself."

Olson was knocked out of the middleweight championship at Chicago Dec. 9 by Sugar Ray Robinson, and Flaherty said he was invoking the return bout provision of the fight contract. He indicated the two would meet at San Francisco's Cow Palace in February, but said a definite date would not be announced until later.

February Fight
"I have the word of Jim Norris of the IBC that Robinson will fight us in February," Flaherty said.

In New York, Robinson's co-manager, Ernie Bracca, said Sugar Ray was "anxious to fight the rematch as soon as possible."

Bracca said Robinson will start training Jan. 8 at Greenwood Lake, N. Y. He said Feb. 24 was the tentative date for the rematch.

The Robinson knockout was blamed by Flaherty on Olson's legal troubles. His wife has filed suit for divorce and a former manager was suing him for half a million dollars.

"I'll keep him up around Clear Lake until just before the fight and he'll get straightened out all right," said Flaherty.

Clear Lake is a summer resort area some 120 miles northeast of San Francisco. During the winter months it is virtually deserted.

U.S. Skaters Leave

NEW YORK (P)—The U.S. Olympic speed skating team left by air Wednesday for a series of meets in Europe leading up to the Winter Olympic games, starting at Cortina, Italy, Jan. 26.

Team members are Bill Carrow of Madison, Wis.; Ken Henry of Chicago, Pat McNamara, Gene Sandvig and John Werker, all of Minneapolis; Manager Herb Schwarz of St. Paul and Coach Del Lamb of Milwaukee.

Orange Bowl Mentors Say Teams Are Fired Up

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Neither coach will be troubled about his team's morale when Oklahoma's swift Sooners tangle with Maryland's brawny Terps in the Orange Bowl football game.

"I don't worry about morale," says Coach Jim Tatum, whose team is enjoying the underdog role. "I'm confident these boys will give Oklahoma all they've got."

Oklahoma's Coach Bud Wilkinson has argued that Maryland has a strong psychological edge, mainly because of the desire to avenge the stinging 7-0 defeat the Terps took from Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl two years ago. That loss was extremely embarrassing, because Maryland had been voted the national champion at the end of the regular season and was a solid favorite over No. 3 Oklahoma.

Wilkinson, however, is not concerned about his team's attitude. He says team spirit is "our biggest asset."

Oklahoma's national champions have been established as seven-point favorites over Maryland, the No. 3 team in the Associated Press poll, in Monday's return engagement between the gridiron giants.

Tatum sent his Terps through a full-speed scrimmage Wednesday and backed off from his original demand for secrecy to allow Miami newsmen to witness it. Earlier, he had admitted only his "home" press from Maryland to the workouts behind the concrete walls of Miami Stadium.

In the Oklahoma camp, halfback Bob Burris was reported bothered by a trick knee.

Explosions On Ground Predicted

PASADENA, Calif. (P)—Michigan State and UCLA are capable of aerial fireworks but Rose Bowl football fans can look for most of the explosions to come on the ground when the teams clash Monday.

So it appeared Wednesday as the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference representatives went through routine drills and the first of a huge and noisy contingent of Michigan State students rolled in on six special trains.

Observers at the MSU workout agreed that All-America quarterback Earl Morrall, whose optional run or pass performances gave the Michigan State fogs a season full of headaches, is the key man to watch on his team.

'Deadly' Aides
But Morrall has a deadly collection of aides in the backfield, including Walt Kowalczyk, who banged out 584 yards last season, and Clarence Peaks, who many think is the team's best all-around back. The 198-pound junior from Flint, despite an ankle injury in the Notre Dame game in mid-October, gained 376 yards.

And Gerry Planutis, a fine blocker and regular fullback for two seasons, added 385 yards to the Spartan cause.

UCLA probably will rely on the same ball carriers who led them into the Rose Bowl, with 2,033 yards gained en route through 10 games.

These are halfbacks Sam Brown and Jim Decker and fullback Bob Davenport, the bread and butter boy.

Brown and Decker, particularly, along with a reserve named Chuck Holloway, are young men who can "go all the way." Brown amassed an amazing 829 yards and Davenport, who missed a couple of games due to a knee injury, was the second leading ground gainer, with 389.

Coach Claims Reports False
MIAMI, Fla. (P)—"Absolutely untrue," Asst. Coach Warren Giese of Maryland said Wednesday to an Associated Press report he had signed a contract to be head football coach of South Carolina.

Giese reiterated earlier replies to such reports that "any decision as to my coaching future will not be made until after the Orange Bowl game" Monday.

Rehr Enright still is head coach at South Carolina although it is known he has been looking for a successor with him becoming athletic director.

The Associated Press in Columbus, S. C., Tuesday quoted the same sources which reported Giese had signed for $12,000 a year.

Rice Rambles Past Aggies
HOUSTON, Tex. (P)—Temple Thunder, 6-10 sophomore center, thrilled a near-capacity crowd of 6,000 Wednesday night by scoring a record 43 points as the undefeated Rice Owls beat Texas A&M 110-81 in a first round game of the fifth annual Southwest Conference Basketball Tournament.

In another first round game Jack Dunne led a Southern California team to a 72-59 win over Baylor. Cow Palace in February, but said a definite date would not be announced until later.

February Fight
"I have the word of Jim Norris of the IBC that Robinson will fight us in February," Flaherty said.

In New York, Robinson's co-manager, Ernie Bracca, said Sugar Ray was "anxious to fight the rematch as soon as possible."

Bracca said Robinson will start training Jan. 8 at Greenwood Lake, N. Y. He said Feb. 24 was the tentative date for the rematch.

The Robinson knockout was blamed by Flaherty on Olson's legal troubles. His wife has filed suit for divorce and a former manager was suing him for half a million dollars.

"I'll keep him up around Clear Lake until just before the fight and he'll get straightened out all right," said Flaherty.

Clear Lake is a summer resort area some 120 miles northeast of San Francisco. During the winter months it is virtually deserted.

U.S. Skaters Leave
NEW YORK (P)—The U.S. Olympic speed skating team left by air Wednesday for a series of meets in Europe leading up to the Winter Olympic games, starting at Cortina, Italy, Jan. 26.

Team members are Bill Carrow of Madison, Wis.; Ken Henry of Chicago, Pat McNamara, Gene Sandvig and John Werker, all of Minneapolis; Manager Herb Schwarz of St. Paul and Coach Del Lamb of Milwaukee.

Orange Bowl Mentors Say Teams Are Fired Up
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Neither coach will be troubled about his team's morale when Oklahoma's swift Sooners tangle with Maryland's brawny Terps in the Orange Bowl football game.

"I don't worry about morale," says Coach Jim Tatum, whose team is enjoying the underdog role. "I'm confident these boys will give Oklahoma all they've got."

Oklahoma's Coach Bud Wilkinson has argued that Maryland has a strong psychological edge, mainly because of the desire to avenge the stinging 7-0 defeat the Terps took from Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl two years ago. That loss was extremely embarrassing, because Maryland had been voted the national champion at the end of the regular season and was a solid favorite over No. 3 Oklahoma.

Wilkinson, however, is not concerned about his team's attitude. He says team spirit is "our biggest asset."

Oklahoma's national champions have been established as seven-point favorites over Maryland, the No. 3 team in the Associated Press poll, in Monday's return engagement between the gridiron giants.

Tatum sent his Terps through a full-speed scrimmage Wednesday and backed off from his original demand for secrecy to allow Miami newsmen to witness it. Earlier, he had admitted only his "home" press from Maryland to the workouts behind the concrete walls of Miami Stadium.

In the Oklahoma camp, halfback Bob Burris was reported bothered by a trick knee.

Explosions On Ground Predicted
PASADENA, Calif. (P)—Michigan State and UCLA are capable of aerial fireworks but Rose Bowl football fans can look for most of the explosions to come on the ground when the teams clash Monday.

So it appeared Wednesday as the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference representatives went through routine drills and the first of a huge and noisy contingent of Michigan State students rolled in on six special trains.

Observers at the MSU workout agreed that All-America quarterback Earl Morrall, whose optional run or pass performances gave the Michigan State fogs a season full of headaches, is the key man to watch on his team.

Poll Of U.S. GOP Leaders Shows Majority Believe Ike Will Run Again

... New Congress Session Nears

By The Associated Press
This last week before the presidential election year begins was marked by a poll Tuesday which found a heavy majority of Republican leaders saying they believe President Eisenhower will run again.

There was also some preliminary skirmishing which could settle down to a steady political battle soon after Congress reconvenes next Tuesday.

The Associated Press asked 134 Republican governors, state chairmen, national committeemen and national committee women: "Do you believe Eisenhower will run again?"

This was the result of the poll: Yes, he will run again—77.

Recovery
Yes, if he has sufficiently recovered from his heart attack—19. No—17.

The remaining 21 said they did not know one way or the other, or had no comment.

There was no hint of what Eisenhower's decision might be as he flew to Key West, Fla., for the warm weather recuperation his doctors have ordered. However, he did wave to the crowd which greeted him in a manner reminiscent of his 1952 campaigning.

His State of the Union message, due to be read to Congress by clerks next Wednesday will be watched for possible clues to his intentions.

Another political figure who is getting over a heart attack—Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas—sought medical advice as to what he can undertake.

Johnson is expected to get the word this weekend whether he can safely resume the duties of Senate Democratic leader. Johnson suffered his attack late last July, about two months before Eisenhower's.

In preliminary skirmishing, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) tore into Secretary of Agriculture Benson on the matter of dairy price supports, and Sen. Butler (D-Md.) predicted an income tax cut next session, perhaps as much as 10 per cent.

Humphrey said the Benson-ordered flexible and lower price supports on dairy products had not reduced production or increased consumption. He said the only result has been "lower income to dairy farmers."

Butler said he thought Congress would keep the principle of flexible price supports, as compared to rigid ones. He said he thought a tax cut would be the only important new legislation.

In the Associated Press poll of Republican leaders, a second question dealt with who might be most likely to win the Republican presidential nomination in the event Eisenhower does not run.

Most of those polled, having already said they thought Eisenhower would run, did not dwell on the "if not" problem.

However, 10 said they thought Vice President Nixon had the best chance to get the nomination in the absence of Eisenhower's willingness to take it again.

GRACE KELLY

JAMES STEWART

James Stewart, Grace Kelly Named Tops At Boxoffice

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Drawing James Stewart has displaced John Wayne as the movies' boxoffice king and newcomer Grace Kelly is the surprise runner-up.

Wayne dropped to third place in the annual poll of exhibitors announced Wednesday by the Motion Picture Herald, a trade publication.

Others, in order, in the top ten: William Holden, Gary Cooper, Marlon Brando, Martin and Lewis, Humphrey Bogart, June Allyson and Clark Gable.

Missing is Marilyn Monroe, ranked fifth last year. She had only one film released this year.

Back in the top ten for the first time in several years is Gable, whose pictures have started clicking again.

Wayne, the action hero, headed the list in 1950 and 1951 and last year. Stewart has long been a fixture among the top ten.

Miss Kelly, the sleek blonde who won last year's "best actress" Academy award, appears for the first time.

As usual, the list is dominated by veterans. Miss Kelly is the only favorite who is a recent arrival on the Hollywood scene.

The comedy team of Martin and Lewis slipped from second last year to seventh. They were tops in 1952.

Best Dressed

NEW YORK (INS)—Movie actress Grace Kelly tops a list of the "ten best dressed women" in America, according to an announcement made Wednesday by the Custom Tailors Guild.

The organization, making its eighth selection of the women who do most for a tailored suit, named Miss Kelly as tops in the motion picture field and Ambassador Clare Booth Luce as best-tailored woman in government.

The lights didn't go out for Mrs. Margaret Widener of 4911 Prescott, they just didn't go on.

Reason: Twenty-eight Christmas tree lights for a front lawn display were stolen. In addition, a bottle was thrown through a garage window.

Total loss and damage: $7.20.

Gas Haul Rate Plan Would 'Aid Consumer'

Nebraskans paid $1.5 million too much for gasoline since 1951, a Burlington Railroad spokesman charged Wednesday.

Attorney J. W. Weingarten referred to the difference he said existed because the gasoline wasn't shipped at rates proposed by the railroad and opposed before the Interstate Commerce Commission by truck line firms.

Another round in the fight was shaping up with the railroad filing with the State Railroad Commission another application to reduce intra-state rates and truckers again voicing their objections.

A hearing will be called on the new petition.

"No wonder," Weingarten said, "the truckers don't want the law changed to permit real competition in rates." He added:

"Naturally the gasoline truckers want to continue the present umbrella of restrictions over their revenue and traffic while they over crowd the highways with their trucks of highly explosive and inflammable gasoline."

In 1950 the railroads proposed to reduce rates one and a half cents per hundred on gasoline, Weingarten said. The ICC limited the reduction to hauls of distances of 75 miles or more with other rates approximately the same as truck rates. Appeals to the courts sustained this rate.

For five years the railroads were prevented from making competitive rates, Weingarten said. Bills in Congress would charge some of the theories under which the commission operates, he continued.

Last year the saving to Nebraskans could have been $520,236 and for 11 months this year, $493,921, he said. The savings in 1951 could have amounted to $474,736.

Tongay Departs

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Russell Tongay, 38-year-old swimming coach, started back to Florida under guard Wednesday to serve a 10-year prison term for manslaughter in the death of his "Aquatot" daughter, Kathy, 5.

After his conviction, Tongay escaped from custody in New Orleans and fled to California, where he surrendered after being at large for almost two weeks.

Highway Commission Recommends New Intersection Access Controls

... Relocation Proposals Heard

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Control of access at intersections of state and federal highways was recommended to the governor and Highway Department at a meeting of Highway Advisory Commission Wednesday.

Controls were recommended for one-half mile east and west of the junction of U. S. 81 and 30 alternate between Shelby and Rising City, at the junction of U. S. 81 and 20 for one-half mile east, and for three-fourths of a mile north of the junction of U. S. 6 and Neb. 61 north of Imperial.

The changes would not affect any of the present access locations for the purposes for which they are now used.

The commission also considered three proposals for relocation of Neb. 35 between Wakefield and Emerson. Recommended mainly for cost reasons was the most northerly of the three plans. It was estimated at $164,000. The other proposals were estimated at $180,000 and $260,000.

Peru Survey

The Highway Department was authorized to make surveys for a new highway entrance to Peru from the west so as to avoid routing traffic through the campus of the Peru Teachers College.

The commission also authorized the relinquishment or abandonment of sections of Neb. 14 and 84 in Knox County made surplus by the relocation of the highways. Part of it consists of city streets in Niobrara. The village board met with the commission for explanation of procedures and the term for which the state will continue maintenance.

County Commissioner John Forsythe of Knox County told the commission the constitutional restriction on county levies prevents counties from meeting an added share of county road costs as is done in other states. He urged the restriction be repealed.

U. S. 281 Postponed

Action on the proposed relocation of U. S. 281 between Doniphan and Grand Island was postponed until a hearing after April 15 when a new form of city government will have had time to make studies. The city will also vote in April on whether a $400,000 bond issue shall make possible a four lane road on the route through the city.

L. N. Ress, state engineer, said that traffic congestion is now in the city and advocated a by-pass with access roads.

"If we put it off another two years, we may have more people killed on the narrow bridges on the present route," he asserted.

Hearing was set for Jan. 23 on a proposal to make sections of U.S. 30 in and adjacent to Columbus four lanes wide. It was explained that the city limits have been set to exclude as much of the highway as possible from the city, making the state pay most of the cost. Edison will be given a hearing in February on a request to have 9.9 miles of Neb. 59 between Edison and Beaver City added to the state system. This is expected to bring forth a determination of policy.

The commission formally hired Owen J. Boyles as secretary at a salary of $6,250 a year to be increased to $6,500 in 90 days. The appointment had previously been determined at a secret meeting in a hotel room, although state law provides that all meeting of the commission be public.

Boyles previously headed the motor vehicle division for 14 years before his resignation last summer.

Mead Plant Sited By AF As War Plant

OMAHA (AP) — The site of the Nebraska Ordnance Plant at Mead may be considered as a possible location for defense industries under a new Air Force Policy, Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles announced Wednesday.

Quarles said that instead of the old idea of building up war industries after the start of hostilities, the new plan calling for greater dispersal of production sources gives top priority to selected aircraft and missiles that would be used to deliver counter atomic blows.

The Omaha World-Herald said it learned Nebraskans had proposed in Washington consideration of the Mead site and the Defense Department has agreed to study it, and has asked for more information.

In announcing the new policy Quarles said production capacity for the top priority weapons "must be kept in active production under the most austere emergency conditions."

The Mead site is outside the immediate target area of Omaha, Nebraskans pointed out. It has 27 sections of ground, already served by highways and railroad tracks. It has 11 water towers and an ample labor force would be available.

The plant was used for bomb loading during World War II.

Julie Wilson Will Wed Bernhard In Las Vegas Rites

OMAHA (AP)—Theater and night club star Julie Wilson has cut short a holiday visit with her parents to fly to Las Vegas to marry apartment owner Harvey Bernhard, 31. "I made up my mind Christmas Day when Harvey telephoned me from Vegas," she said before taking off.

She said the wedding probably will take place Thursday. Bernhard and her mother, Mrs. Russell E. Wilson of Omaha, left with her.

It will be the second marriage for Miss Wilson, 31. She divorced Barron Polan, her manager, in Las Vegas several weeks ago. Miss Wilson will return to New York to take over the lead in the Broadway Company of "Pajama Game" Jan. 23 and open a night club engagement at the St. Regis Hotel Jan. 12.

Cuban Appointed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — The U.N. announced that Cuba has appointed Emilio Nunez Portuondo to be its representative on the Security Council. Cuba, elected to replace Brazil on the council, will hold the seat for two years starting Jan. 1.

Janitor, 23, Confesses Killing Girl

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — A young janitor, characterized by police as a "mad butcher" of human victims, was seized in a bus station men's room Wednesday while trying to wash from his hands the blood of a 13-year-old girl found murdered and mutilated.

The suspect, James Reese, 23, admitted the knife slaying of the child, Elizabeth Simpson, police said.

Several hours after Reese was arrested police said they found evidence linking him with the knife murder of Georgia Ann Barrett, 19-year-old divorcee, and the vicious slaying of Mrs. Betty Luke, 27, and her child, Mary Ellen.

The Barrett woman was stabbed to death in her basement apartment early Monday, six hours after Mrs. Luke and her child were seriously wounded by an intruder as they slept in their beds at a nearby address.

Police said Reese, a former San Quentin convict, "fits to a T" descriptions of the prowler who carried out the pre-dawn assaults two days ago.

Body In Reese's Room

Little Elizabeth's nude body—"horribly mutilated," according to the coroner—was found in Reese's room at an O'Farrell street multiple dwelling about 6 a.m. Wednesday.

The discovery was made by two police officers who rushed to the scene in response to a hysterical telephone call from the child's mother, Mrs. Gloria Simpson. Mrs. Simpson had gone into her daughter's room a few moments earlier to find the child missing and bloodstains in the place.

An alarm was broadcast and 25 minutes later two patrolmen sighted Reese running into the Seventh Street Greyhound bus terminal. They followed him into the men's room where, they said, they found him scrubbing his hands. The officers reported he also had blood spots on his clothes.

Booked on suspicion of murder, Reese, who had worked as a janitor in a downtown department store until last Friday, quickly confessed the mutilation murder of 13-year-old Elizabeth, police said. Asked why he did it, he was quoted as replying:

"Wine makes you crazy." Mrs. Barrett was slain shortly after 6 a.m. with a knife taken from Mrs. Luke's apartment.

Police said a button and thread found on the floor of Mrs. Luke's room matched other buttons and thread on a tweed coat found in Reese's room. The coat was minus one button.

7 Women Injured In Road Crashes

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — Seven North Platte women were injured Wednesday in a highway mishap near Hershey, involving two separate accidents.

State Patrolman H. A. Carlson said a car driven by Mrs. Luella Schemp, 39, went out of control on icy stretch of Highway 30 and plowed into a ditch. A few moments later a car driven by Mrs. Mary Ponce, 23, skidded at the same spot and piled into the Schemp car.

Mrs. Schemp and her daughter, Nira Kessler, 21, were hospitalized in North Platte and Mrs. Ponce in Sutherland. Four passengers in Mrs. Ponce's car were treated and released.

Mrs. Kessler had a compound fracture of the right leg, a head injury and suffered shock. Mrs. Schemp suffered extreme shock and possible internal injuries. Mrs. Ponce had severe scalp and face lacerations, a broken nose and fracture of the left clavicle.

He began his service with the VA at the St. Cloud, Minn., hospital in 1925, and was also stationed at VA hospitals in Summit, N. Y., and Wadsworth, Kan., before coming to Lincoln.

He was honored in May, 1954, for "outstanding performance in the line of his prescribed duty." Local Veterans officials attended a dinner honoring his 30 years of government service early in December.

Man Found Lying Under House Said In Poor Condition

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—John Nolas, about 70, a retired North Platte railroad man, was reported in poor condition Wednesday after being rescued from underneath his house where he may have lain since Monday.

His physician said Nolas suffered "heart spells" and may have had a seizure after he went into the crawl space under the house where he lived alone to fix some water pipes.

Nolas was found by J. Sterling Adams and Jim Navis Wednesday after Mrs. Adams and another neighbor, Mrs. Clark Harvey, became alarmed about Nolas' whereabouts.

Mrs. Harvey said she had gone to Nolas' home Tuesday and failed to find him. She returned again Wednesday morning but he was still not in evidence and the house was cold. She told Mrs. Adams, who recalled that Nolas had said he was going to fix the water pipes after Christmas. Adams and Navis went to the house and trailed an electrical trouble light cord into a closet and down into the crawl space where Nolas was found.

Disaster Aid Limit Hike Is Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation will be needed early in 1956 to raise the 25-million-dollar ceiling imposed by Congress on disaster loans, administration aids said Wednesday.

Because of heavy outlays to rebuild New England homes and businesses laid waste by wind and flood, funds available to the Small Business Administration for low-cost, long-term disaster loans were exhausted before destroying waters hit California, Oregon and Nevada.

SBA therefore will make conventional, 6 per cent loans to the West Coast victims, but with assurances that the loans will be converted to 3 per cent as soon as Congress acts.

Congress provided SBA with a 105-million-dollar revolving fund for disaster lending, but tied a string to it: Not more than 25 million dollars may be outstanding in loans at any one time.

By the time the winds and rains had worked their havoc last fall on the Northeast, SBA had committed $26,182,000 for the repair and replacement of damaged and destroyed buildings and business places.

This puncture of the loan ceiling was made possible by assurances from the White House and congressional leaders that action would be taken quickly after Congress convenes to boost the disaster loan ceiling.

"Meantime disaster loans are being made on the same terms as ordinary small business loans, but each carries a notation that the terms will be liberalized when the funds are released," an SBA spokesman said.

Stocks Turn Down New York Stock Closes

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a definite turn down Wednesday in quiet trading.

The fall was far from pronounced and trading never reached proportions that would suggest pressure.

Price changes were mostly small, and most of the day's movement was as much as $1 in either direction. Motors were early victims of selling by close of the day.

Harlow H. Cuttice, General Motors president, estimated production of the company in 1955 to be 1,000,000 cars and trucks. Other estimates go as high as 15 per cent.

Price ended lower along with aircrafts, copiers, many chemicals and railroads. Others were mixed to slightly higher.

The Associated Press said 60 stocks of 40 cents at $17.40. It was up 10 cents Tuesday.

The industrial component of the average was off 60 cents and rails were down 30 cents, while utilities were unchanged.

Most of the day's trading was in 100,000 shares compared with 2,000,000 Tuesday. Both are well below the daily average of 1,000,000.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed on volume of 1,000,000 shares compared with 1,200,000 Tuesday.

Underwear, Tobacco Best Malayan Reds' Leader Can Get

By OLEN CLEMENTS

BALING, Malaya (AP)—Malayan Red leader Chin Peng, 36, whose head once was worth 80,000 pounds ($24,000) to the British, came out of the jungle Wednesday smiling, defeated and worn. He asked for tobacco, underwear and a place in the sun for the Malayan Communist party. He got the underwear and tobacco.

He smiled and waved to the Chinese, Malays and Indians who watched him as he scrambled out of a police car on arriving here on the border of Malaya and Thailand. But when he was sent to talk to Prince Abdul Rahman, chief minister of Malaya, Chin ran into a stone wall.

He asked for recognition of the Communist party in Malaya. It was the request of a man who had been in the jungle for seven of the 7 1/2 years of the Malayan war that has taken 10,000 lives. The answer was no. He asked for freedom of political movement for the Communists. The answer was no. Chin and his aides came here at the invitation of Abdul Rahman, who wanted to explain the terms of the amnesty he proposed last September when he was chosen to head Malaya's first popularly elected government. Abdul Rahman said he was not offering to negotiate a peace settlement—only offering amnesty to Communists who surrender.

The Communists launched the guerrilla war in June, 1948. To protect the peninsula rich in rubber and tin, Britain declared an emergency and rushed reinforcements and raised a large army of police and home guards. The long struggle has cost an equivalent of $630,000 a day, four-fifths of it coming from the British treasury. Only in the past year have the British-Malayan forces appeared to have gotten the upper hand.

Chin talked through three hours and a quarter of their first meeting and then a second two-hour meeting.

Grasping For Straw
He sounded almost—the people who heard him said—like a man grasping for a straw.

His ragged army of Communists could give him a guard of only 40 men when he was brought to the edge of the jungle for the meeting. He rode and strode like a victor. But he was not that when he got to the English school where Abdul Rahman, David Marshall, chief minister of the British colony of Singapore, and Sir Chen Lock Tan, president of the Malayan-Chinese party, faced him down in the first two meetings.

He was told in no uncertain words by Abdul Rahman that most of his Communist followers would have to serve a jail term before they would be allowed in a free society again. Then they would have to join an existing Malayan political party.

Chin asked time to think it over. He will meet the government leaders again Thursday. Most observers have no doubt he will refuse most everything that has been offered.

Dr. Louise Pound Stresses Importance Of Language

CHICAGO, Ill.—Dr. Louise Pound told members of the Modern Language Association of America that the importance of language can hardly be exaggerated. Dr. Pound, first woman president of the association, spoke at the convention here Wednesday night.

People will always be word-conscious, she said, because "every-one is interested in some phase of speech."

Harsh Words
Dr. Pound, professor emerita of English at the University of Nebraska, said "harsh words are spoken in these days as regards language, even concerning the study of our mother tongue."

She said statements such as these sometimes are heard at educational conferences: "English should be a branch of social science. . . . The main business of the English teacher is to teach citizenship. . . . Young children should not be taught by separate subject but should be taught their relation to others and to society. . . . Science, citizenship and welfare loom large in the foreground today "as they should," Dr. Pound said, "but they must not be all-engulfing."

Everything In Language
After all it is in language that science, citizenship, education and welfare are recorded as well as are history, fiction, drama and poetry, Dr. Pound said.

She said she has faith that in a civilized society there always will be organizations such as the Modern Language Association for the "promotion of investigation, discussion and comradely intercourse."

University of Nebraska faculty members taking part in the convention here include Dr. Paul Schach, professor of Germanic languages, and Dr. James Miller, acting chairman of the English department.

Statehouse Tower Closed By Mishap

The observation platform at the top of the statehouse tower was closed to visitors Wednesday after a 78-year-old California woman slipped while descending stairs to the elevator late Tuesday.

The injured woman was Mrs. Sara Brundage, San Francisco, Calif., who is visiting a brother, A. E. Kelly, of Lincoln.

Since a fire in an elevator shaft a week ago, there had been no service beyond the twelfth floor level. The other elevator which goes to the 14th floor level where the observation platform is located is being replaced and is not quite ready to go into operation.

Children have been barred from the stairways since the fire.

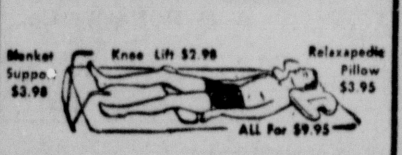

State Receives More Vaccine

A shipment of 7,900 doses of polio vaccine was received Tuesday by the State Health Department.

Still another shipment is expected by the end of the week, said Allen Rouse, director of the vaccine program.

The department, so far, has shipped 64,000 cc. of vaccine to physicians requesting it over the state.
